Million-Dollar Fire Hits Fremont

One Dies Fighting Holocaust

Flames Level Large Store

FREMONT — (UP) — One fireman was killed and three others received minor injuries in a fire that raged out of control for six hours today and destroyed the city's largest department store.

Firemen from 10 adjoining cities and towns succeeded in bringing the blaze under control at 6:30 a. m. (EST) after flames had threatened to engulf the entire business block.

The blaze leveled the newly remodeled Joseph's department store and destroyed the firm's entire Christmas stock. Police estimated the damage would run "at least $1,000,000."

Police said there was no fire damage to three adjoining buildings but added that water damage to stocks of four small firms would be "excessive."

William Kettner, 34, a Fremont fireman and father of two children was killed when knocked from a ladder by a hose nozzle. Fire Chief Urban S. Myers, James Briggs, and Alfred Mann, assistant fire chief at nearby Clyde, suffered minor injuries from falling debris.

The blaze broke out shortly before midnight and was believed to have started in the basement of the department store. Cause of the fire has not been determined.

Extra fire companies were summoned from Toledo, Sandusky, Port Clinton, Fostoria, Tiffin, Clyde, Bellevue and nearby townships.

SAVE 3 BUILDINGS

Firemen battled successfully to keep the flames from reaching three adjoining buildings occupied by the Miller-Jones Shoe company, Nobil's Shoe company, Joseph's Wallpaper and Paint company, owned by the department store, and Bentz's ladies' ready-to-wear store. Water loss to the stores was extensive.

Firefighters were hampered by a lack of water and at one time it was reported there was only an hour's supplyleft.

Hoses were laid across the Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad tracks and all trains into the city were halted for a time. State highway patrolmen detoured all automobile traffic.

Louis Danziger, owner of Joseph's, said he planned to rebuild immediately. The store was remodeled and modernized and an annex was erected less than a year ago.

Meat Prices Cut In N. Y.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Some major food chains announced today reductions in retail meat prices here.

A. & P. food stores said reductions of from 4 to 8 cents a pound on virtually every cut of beef, pork and other meats have been in effect since last Thursday following a decline in the wholesale market.

The Grand Union Co. said its meat price cuts averaged five cents a pound and were effective in the firm's 118 super-markets in the New York metropolitan area.

One food chain spokesman said meat prices were dropping because of a seasonal demand for poultry, particularly turkey.

In the New York metropolitan area the Safeway Stores cut egg prices by 7 cents a dozen. Large grade A white eggs, formerly 85 cents, will sell at 78, tomorrow, and large grade A browns will drop to 74 cents from 81 cents a dozen.

Benevolent 'Burglar' Plays Santa

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Santa Claus came early to Ben Field of Columbus.

Field told police last night he didn't have a chimney, but someone had broken in through a window in his house trailer and left a quantity of candy and chewing gum.

Nothing was missing.

Publisher To Speak At Dinner

C. of C. Expects Crowd to Top 1,500

The third annual "big scale" Chamber of Commerce dinner will be held Jan. 14 at the Coliseum with Eugene C. Pulliam, publisher of the Indianapolis Star and News, scheduled to deliver the principal address.

Chamber of Commerce officials said they hoped to accommodate between 1,500 and 2,000 persons at the banquet of the "biggest little Chamber of Commerce in the nation."

Pulliam, who delivered the main address at the 55th annual meeting of the Ohio C. of C. in Cincinnati in October, was described by a C. of C. official as one of "the most talked-about publishers in the country." The topic of his speech was not revealed.

C. L. VanDerau, general chairman of the banquet committee, has called a meeting of committees and committee personnel for Thursday at 4 p. m., when plans and details of the banquet will be discussed.

Tickets for the affair will go first, to members of the C. of C. and their guests and then the sale will be thrown open to the general public.

U. S. Asks Korean Aid

PARIS — (AP) — The United States today asked United Nations protection for the republic of Korea against threats of violence and terror from communist-controlled north Korea.

John Foster Dulles, acting chairman of the American delegation, told the political committee U. N. members should show "solidarity with the newly formed but already threatened government of the republic of Korea."

Dulles, first speaker in the long-delayed Korean debate, also blasted Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia for giving recognition to the regime of north Korea.

Russian delegates already have served indirect notice they will do their utmost to bar assembly action on Korea in the five working days left here.

Dulles declared the communist regime of north Korea asserts pretentions to govern the entire country and threatens to back those pretentions with force and violence.

Hang Hungarian As American Spy

LONDON — (AP) — Victor Csornoky, son-in-law of former Hungarian President Zoltan Tildy, was executed by the Hungarians today for treason, the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported in a dispatch from Budapest.

Csornoky, 29, formerly was Hungary's envoy to Egypt. He once was stationed in Washington. A people's court sentenced him Nov. 15 to be hanged, holding that he had engaged in "traitorous activities" with U. S. and British agents.

Screen Star Gives Veterans a 'Lift'

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Inmates of Crile Veterans Administration hospital in Cleveland were a bit more cheerful today after a visit from attractive Nancy Kelly, Hollywood movie star.

The movie actress covered 12 miles as she went through all the wards and rooms at the hospital, shaking hands and giving encouragement.

CRASH KILLS YOUTH

CLEVELAND, —(INS)—Frank Cimino of Cleveland was killed last night in suburban Warrensville heights when an automobile crashed into his bicycle.

Vets Seek Action On Memorial

Meet Thursday On Proposal

Members of the Richland County Joint Veterans commission will meet with representatives of Mansfield labor groups, industries, and professions Thursday night to take action on a proposed war memorial in the form of a municipal auditorium.

The special meeting has been called for 8 p. m. Thursday at the VFW clubrooms, it was announced last night at a meeting of Robert P. Spreng Post No. 26, Amvets.

Members of the commission will explain at the meeting what has been done so far and what the commission proposes to do. The vets are expected to decide whether to go ahead with plans for the memorial or drop the idea if they feel they lack the proper backing.

Representatives of labor, industry, and the professions have been invited so that the commission may get their ideas on backing the memorial.

The commission consists of two members of each veterans organization in the county.

TO SEND PACKAGES

The Amvets voted last night to send packages to overseas servicemen. Members were asked to turn in names of such servicemen and packages will be mailed this week.

The Amvets voted to contribute to this year's Christmas seal fund. They also voted to have the Joint Veterans commission continue to supply a veterans representative to serve on the Visiting Nurses association board.

Don Finefrock, Amvet representative on the board of the blood bank, spoke to the group on the program of the blood bank.

DELEGATES NAMED

Seven delegates were selected to attend the mid-winter conference at Lima Dec. 11 and 12. All state officials and the national Amvets commander will attend the meeting.

Those who will attend from the Mansfield post include Robert Bonham, commander; Joseph Rizzo, Rosyln Todd, Glenn Hoffman, Norman Hakes, Richard Underwood, and Robert Sipes.

Witness Raps Flood Project

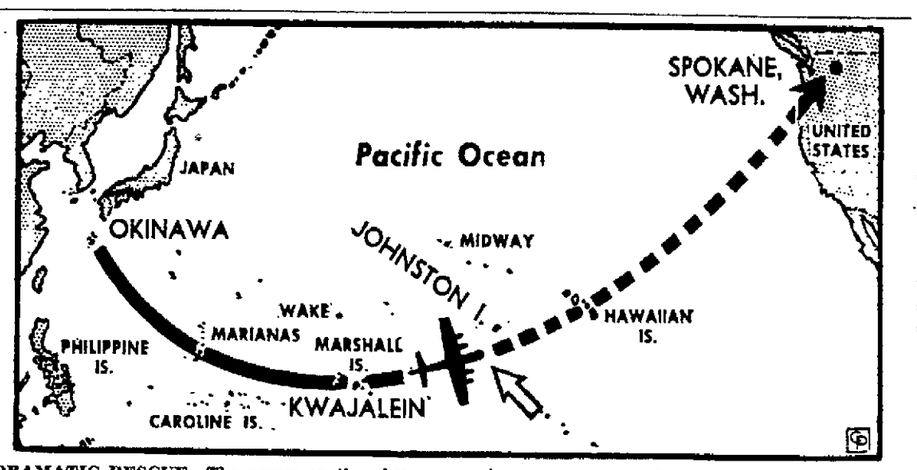
DEFIANCE — (AP) — A former state highway director says the Maumee valley is too flat to make a flood control project feasible.

Perry T. Ford, last direct witness before the court hearing testimony for a proposed conservancy district, was on the stand yesterday. The court then recessed and Ford is expected to finish his testimony.

The hearings may continue for some time, as rebuttal witnesses take over. The 15-judge court began hearing testimony on the valley-wide control project five weeks ago.

Say Reds 'Routed'

CHICAGO — (UP) — President Michael J. Quill and his entire right-wing slate wrested control of the CIO Transport Workers today from left-wing leaders who have dominated the union for the last two years. "The communist party has been completely routed," Quill said of the union election.



DRAMATIC RESCUE—The arrow on the above map shows where the U. S. Navy aircraft carrier Rendova late last night picked up 33 survivors from the C-54 transport which "ditched" Saturday 1,000 miles southwest of Hawaii. The survivors had spent 39 hours on two life rafts before being rescued. Four other men on the transport plane were drowned. Distress flares on the two life rafts were sighted early yesterday. The survivors are being taken to Kwajalein.

Fill Santa's Sack

Biggest Shopping Crowds Jam Stores

Most Mansfield stores had their biggest day of the holiday season yesterday when Christmas shoppers crowded stores from morning until the closing hour of 9 p. m.

The biggest crowds gathered in stores during the evening hours, but merchants said there was no lull in their business even during what is generally the dinner hour.

One merchant said yesterday's sales were as high as any his store had ever had. He attributed the large number of shoppers during the evening hours to the influx of out-of-town customers.

Another merchant said that while yesterday was not the biggest day of the season for his store, it was the biggest Monday and sales were "very satisfactory." He said his store had its biggest day last Saturday.

TRAFFIC PROBLEM

The large number of shoppers out last evening created a traffic problem as well as a problem for busy clerks. Streets in the business district were lined solidly with parked cars, and some patrons were forced to park blocks away from the shopping district.

Cars moved in a steady stream down Main street and the sidewalks were crowded with pedestrians.

The first really cold weather of the season seemed to have an influence on the number of shoppers yesterday and last night. With the beginning of cold weather, Mansfielders seemed to get the Christmas spirit and decide to do something about Christmas preparations.

Reds Spring New Trap

Encircle Three Chinese Armies

NANKING, CHINA — (AP) — Government sources admitted today communist armies hav encircled 110,000 Nationalist combat troops on the central China front southwest of Suchow.

These sources said the three trapped army groups have been compressed on a front eight miles long and five miles in depth. They were trapped by the communists as they marched south from Suchow to rescue other encircled government forces.

Eight or nine red columns, commanded by General Chen Yi, were said to have completed the encirclement of this former Suchow garrison. The trap was sprung about 50 miles southwest of their former base.

Civil officials, evacuated from Suchow with the troops, were reported hampering operations of the encircled armies.

The bulk of Chen Yi's forces were reported concentrated south of the government pocket to prevent an attempted break through in an effort to contact the encircled Twelth Army group.

A nationalist military press spokesman described the reported communist encirclement as "not probable." He said he had "not received such reports." Government communiques are usually late in reporting reverses.

Kids Set Out For Big City

CLEVELAND. — (INS) — Two Cleveland youngsters still doubted today that "Cleveland is the best location in the nation."

Richard Kyler, 8, and his 10-year-old sister, Laura Dale Kyler, left home yesterday for New York City where they had lived until April of this year.

But they were found later in the day playing in a parking lot on Cleveland's east side.

Laura told policwomen she and her brother planned to visit friends in Manhattan but she lost the way. And then, too, Richard got a spanking Sunday.

Spy Hunt Speeds Up

Chambers Again Before Jury

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON— (AP) —The House un-American Activities committee suddenly decided to reopen public hearings today in its investigation of communist spying. It named former Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles as a witness.

★

NEW YORK. — (AP)—Another day of questioning before a spy-hunting federal grand jury today confronted Whittaker Chambers, confessed courier for a pre-war communist espionage ring.

Chambers testified before the grand jury at length yesterday and was closeted until early this morning with members of the House Un-American activities committee, who hastened here to talk with him.

Chambers' appearance before the grand jury coincided with the committee's disclosure that the ex-communist previously had accused Alger Hiss, former state department official, of slipping him "restricted" documents for delivery to a Russian agent.

He and Hiss went before the grand jury yesterday in a follow-up to committee reports of new and startling evidence of a pre-war communist underground.

This same evidence, uncovered in a hollowed-out pumpkin on Chambers' Maryland farm, is the object of today's house committee session, to which Chambers was summoned.

Japs Win Nine Day Reprieve

TOKYO —(AP)— Gen. Douglas MacArthur reiterated today that former Premier Hideki Tojo and six other condemned Japanese war-lords will live until the supreme court of the United States acts on appeals before it.

That gave Japan's top war leaders at least nine more days of life. The U. S. court set Dec. 16 to hear appeals submitted by two men in the death house and five others sentenced to prison terms.

While MacArthur answered the question about the immediate fate of the war criminals, he declined to answer other questions regarding the court's decision to listen to arguments. Aides said he felt remarks from him under the circumstances would be unseemly.

Hospital Plans Set

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Contracts for a new $1,250,000 hospital and public health center at Nelsonville will be signed this week, Architect Louis F. Karsberger of Columbus said today.

City Escapes Cold Wave

That "coldest weather" forecast failed to materialize.

The mercury dropped only to 33 in Mansfield this morning despite the weatherman's prediction of readings in the low 20's.

There may be winter in the air tomorrow, however, for the forecast calls for snow or rain and continued rather cold.

The five-day extended weather forecast follows:

Temperatures will average six to eight degrees above normal. Mild until colder trend beginning Friday night and Saturday. Precipitation will average one-half to one inch, occurring as rain or snow, mostly rain Friday and occasional light rains or snows thereafter.

Firm Lays Off 3,300 Workers

CLEVELAND — (UP) — The Apex Electrical and Manufacturing company today laid off 3300 workers and plans to lay off 400 more the first of the year.

The layoffs were equally divided between the company's Cleveland and Sandusky's plants. Both plants will go on a four-day week.

C. G. Frantz, president, blamed the curtailment on curbs on installment buying. He said he had wired the government asking for modifications in the order requiring a 20 per cent down payment by purchasers of household equipment.

Libel Suit Filed

AKRON —(INS)— A $25,000 libel suit has been filed by Reese J. Highfield, business agent for the Akron Typographical union, against another union printer. Highfield's suit, which was filed yesterday, named as defendant Joseph Costello.

Carrier Picks Up Survivors; Four Drown

HONOLULU — (INS) — The thrilling air-sea rescue of 33 airmen from life-rafts in the mid-Pacific provided a dramatic climax today to America's observance of "Pearl Harbor day."

The rescued men, survivors of 37 dumped into the ocean when a C-54 transport plane was forced to "ditch" in the Pacific Saturday night, were picked up from two life rafts by the naval aircraft carrier Rendova.

Messages from the Rendova, now speeding the men to Kwajalein island where the warship is due in about three days, said all the men are safe and in "reasonably good condition."

The missing four presumably are dead.

All seven members of the sunken plane's crew were among those rescued. They are Lt. Col. William R. Calhoun jr., of Birmingham, Ala., commander of the ill-fated C-54; Maj. E. A. Sikes, Lt. L. A. Lenox, Lt. J. H. Froelich, S/Sgt. W. L. Underwood, Cpl. N. L. Klettre and Cpl. J. F. Remfeldt.

Twenty-six of the plane's 30 passengers—all of whom were air force ground personnel being flown back to Spokane, Wash.—were rescued.

The plane's commander was quoted in radioed messages from the naval aircraft carrier Rendova as saying the craft's number four engine conked out an hour and a half before the crash. Calhoun said that an hour later the number three engine conked out.

He said he then ordered all available gear thrown out of the plane but that he was unable to maintain altitude. He added that the ship flew on two engines for half an hour before being "ditched."

The naval aircraft carrier Rendova picked up the survivors late last night after they had drifted aimlessly for 39 hours following the crash-landing in the pre-dawn darkness Sunday.

Reports from the Rendova to Honolulu placed the scene of the rescue about 1,000 miles southwest of Hawaii.

GO TO KWAJALEIN

The 33 survivors were being taken to Kwajalein where they are expected to arrive aboard the Rendova in about three days.

Brother Rescued

No Mansfielder was happier at the rescue of the 33 men in the Pacific plane crash than Mrs. John R. McConnell, 239 Helen avenue, whose brother was among the rescued men.

Mrs. McConnell learned from her family in Saginaw, Mich., that her brother, Sgt. Charles Weston Golden, 32, was found on one of the rafts. Sgt. Golden had been on duty on Okinawa. He enlisted in the army after seven years in the Navy.

Mrs. McConnell came to Mansfield about a month ago from Michigan.

Marshall Undergoes Operation

Condition Said To Be 'Excellent'

WASHINGTON, — (UP) —Secretary of State George C. Marshall underwent a kidney operation at Walter Reed hospital today, the state department announced.

There was no immediate statement on the results of the operation.

The state department issued an announcement which said that "following a physical check-up last summer the surgeons wished to operate then but because of the Paris conference the operation was delayed until today."

There were no further details immediately available.

Marshall, who will be 68 on Dec. 31, has been living at the hospital since he returned Nov. 22 from Paris, where he attended the United Nations Security council meeting.

The state department announced a week ago that the secretary of state had entered the hospital for some "tests and examinations."

The state department previously had described Marshall's stay at the hospital as routine.

When he entered the hospital, there was speculation that the secretary's health might determine whether he would continue as secretary of state. He took over the number one cabinet post on Jan. 21, 1947.

President Truman said at a news conference last Thursday that he did not have any word as to whether Marshall felt physically able to continue in the cabinet. But the president added that Marshall along with other cabinet members had been asked to stay and that they would continue to serve.

Pursuit Hot, Bandit Hops Aboard Bike

MUNCIE, IND. — (AP) — A bicycle served as a handy getaway vehicle for a gunman fleeing with a bag containing $28,570 he had stolen in a daylight holdup yesterday from two officials of Muncie's largest department store.

The robber was chased by M. Ray Applegate, advertising agency owner, a passerby. But the gunman jumped on a bicycle left in an alley and sped away.

Meanwhile, one of the holdup victims, Fred Staver, credit manager of Ball stores, chased a second robber a block and a half before he was outdistanced.

Staver and William Jones, assistant credit manager, were taking the money to a bank when a man walking ahead of them turned around and drew a gun. He barked: "Drop that bag. I'll shoot you. I'll kill you.

Staver said he dropped the bag.

Challenge Forces Court to Recess

AKRON —(AP)— The right of Common Pleas court to hear a permanent injunction suit brought against the East Ohio Gas company by a local customer was challenged by the company today.

The challenge prompted Judge Stephen C. Colopy to recess the hearing of an injunction suit brought by Joseph C. Ruhlin, who asked that East Ohio be restrained from shutting off his gas furnace.

VETO DRILLING

CANTON—(AP)—A city council ruling today prohibited drilling of gas wells on city park land between the hours of 10 p. m. and 6 a. m.

Mme. Chiang Wins Audience

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Truman will meet with Madame Chiang Kai-Shek on Friday, the White House announced today.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said the wife of China's generalissimo will be the guest of the President and Mrs. Truman at tea at 5 p. m. (EST) Friday.

Madame Chiang will be accompanied to Blair house—the temporary residence of President and Mrs. Truman—by Mrs. George C. Marshall, wife of the secretary of state.

Trial Set For Woodville Mayor

FREMONT — (UP) — Harry Karchner, mayor of nearby Woodville, today faced trial Dec. 16 on charges of permitting operation of slot machines in the village during a July 4, 1947, celebration.

The trial date was set yesterday by Judge A. V. Baumann, who had twice before postponed proceedings because of the illness of persons involved.

Miners Quit Strike

STEUBENVILLE — (INS) — The Hanna coal company's Dun Glen mine resumed full production today as 550 wildcat strikers returned to work. The miners, who had been out four days, agreed to submit their grievances to negotiation.

McClains Get Furniture, Food and Clothing

Fire Victims Receive Helping Hand

The R. H. McClain family, whose home on Cairns road north of the city, burned last Thursday, is finding unexpected help from Mansfield and Richland county "neighbors."

Today, the outlook, which last Thursday night seemed pretty desolate, has brightened considerably with the offer of various kinds of help from city and county residents.

The Red Cross has contributed $50 for food and clothing and will add to this if the McClains need it.

A Mansfield woman offered through Paul E. Carver, 6656-0, a friend of the family.

McClain said he will not rebuild on the site on Cairns road. Although there was some insurance on the house, which was in the process of being built, there is not enough to start building again.

"I think I'll just turn my three and three-quarters acres into a truck patch," McClain said.

Meanwhile the McClains and their five children are living with the Floyd McClains at Little Washington, brother and sister of McClain.

furniture, and as soon as the family finds a home, the furniture will be moved, McClain said today.

A new "comfort" was taken out of the frames by members of the fourth district of the Earnest Workers of the First Lutheran church and sent to the family last night. Residents of Lucas have contributed a bedroom suite; others have given clothing and canned fruit.

Now all the family needs is a home in which to put these contributions.

Senior High Cagers Make Home Debut Tonight

Clinic, Alumni Game Set For Tyger Basketeers

A double-header program at 7:30 p. m. tonight will officially open the high school basketball season in Senior high gym.

The "Chuck Taylor Basketball Clinic" will occupy the first hour of the show while at 8:30 p. m. the Tyger varsity will take the floor against an Alumni quintet. Although Coach Vern Hoffman's Tygers have one victory already under their belts, they have yet to appear before home fans.

SIXTH ANNUAL

The clinic is the sixth annual affair sponsored by the Tyger booster club for the purpose of acquainting fans with team members. Taylor's ball-handling and fundamentals demonstration will be only part of the hour's show.

The Tyger band will also make its appearance and an official welcome will be given by Senior high Principal Rohleder. Tyger club President Art Glattke will be heard from as will Athletic Director Augie Morningstar. Hoffman will introduce the varsity players and Fred Staub the sophomores. The varsity will then help Taylor with his demonstration.

GAME TOUGH

The game itself is liable to develop into considerably stiffer competition than the Tygers bargained for. Jim LeMunyon will lead the Alumni team and will have former high school greats such as Nick Gagich, Ollie Cline, Stretch Regula, Bob Nikolaus, Louis Snavely, Jimmy Robinson, Don Hardy, Dick Flockenzier and Don Gross will round out the squad. Cline and Gagich both made All-Ohio while wearing Bengal flannels.

Hoffman is expected to start a quintet composed of Willie Fowler and Jimmy Anderson at forwards, A. C. Jenkins and Paul Ferguson at guards, and Norb Shibinski at center.

Jimmy Lymper and Vere Smith will officiate the Alumni tilt.

Parents, coaches, and press will have dinner with the team at 6 p. m. in the school cafeteria.

Londoners Support Yank Lou Savold

LONDON—(INS)—London newspapers today rushed to the defense of Lee Savold, American heavyweight who lost to Bruce Woodcock on a foul at Harringay last night.

A majority of London papers asserted that Savold got a bad decision. The Daily Express said:

"Not for many years has victory been thrown away so cheaply. Nothing could have robbed the American of victory. He had softened up Woodcock in the first couple rounds."

The Daily Mail said the verdict made Woodcock a "lucky winner" and added:

"Woodcock was back-pedalling from the start and fighting a defensive battle. Savold was the most unlucky big fight loser that has been seen in London in a long time."

Norman Hurst, sports writer for the Daily Graphic, wrote:

"Savold forced the fight throughout and appeared to be winning decisively. To me, the punch which ended the fight seemed to have landed legitimately, but Sam Russell, the referee, thought otherwise."

Tiremen Lead F-H 'A' Loop

Mansfield Tire stood at the top of the Friendly House A league after knocking off Sons of Italy in the feature game of last night's basketball card.

Bob Braddock led the way with 12 points as the Tiremen scored a 35-31 victory.

Safety Cabs trimmed Rex Billiards, 21-19, in the other contest. Both teams had been beaten last week.

Don Black Faces Operation Today

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Don Black, Cleveland Indians' pitcher who suffered a brain hemorrhage in a game with St. Louis last September was to undergo surgery today in Cleveland in an effort to clear up severe headaches which have bothered him since the injury.

Dr. Spencer Braden, noted brain specialist, was to perform the operation, which he hopes will remove an aneurysm, a weak spot in a blood vessel.

The specialist said that he believed the aneurysm caused the hemorrhage which the pitcher suffered.

Accepts Red Offer

ASHEVILLE, N. C.—(AP)—Grover Frisbee, the National Baseball Congress' "sandlotter of the year," said yesterday he has accepted an $8,000 bonus to sign with the Cincinnati Reds. Frisbee is a left-handed pitcher.

John Simpson Cagers Battle Union Tomorrow

John Simpson junior high school will open its 1948-49 basket ball season tomorrow afternoon when it invades Union high for a pair of games.

The Simpson eighth graders will meet the second team of the Union reserves while the Simpson varsity takes on the first stringers. The first game will get away at approximately 3:30 p.m.

Coach Bob Kennedy of Simpson has no lettermen back around which to build a team. He has been using three ninth graders, forwards Lewis Luckie and Stan Schneider and center Stan Milligan, and two eighth-graders, Guards Jim Schofer and Ben CARbetta, as his first five.

Hogan Named Pro Golfer of Year

NEW YORK —(AP)—Ben Hogan has been named professional golfer of the year.

Fred Corcoran, editor of the official Golf Guide, announced the selection of Hogan as the best play-for pay golfer yesterday.

Corcoran named Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, the men's amateur of the year; Grace Lenczyk of Newington, Conn., women's amateur, and Mrs. Babe Zaharias of Denver, women's professional of the year.

Minor Moguls Open Trading; Chisox Sell Tony Lupien

MINNEAPOLIS—(AP)—The sale of Tony Lupien by the Chicago White Sox to Sacramento launched trading today as the minor leagues baseball meeting preliminaries got under way.

The sale of the 32-year-old first baseman was a straight cash deal.

The White Sox at the same time announced the resignation of William Purnhage as treasurer and director of the White Sox's Memphis club in the Southern association.

Officials of the American association and Three-Eye league met today, and were expected to discuss player bonuses and television rights.

It was the last day for minor league spokesmen to decide how they will vote on important proposals scheduled to go before the annual convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues. The convention actually opens tomorrow.

The American association meeting was the first attended by Bruce Dudley since he succeeded Frank Lane as president of the circuit.

The bonus rule and television issues are the most important to be discussed at the convention.

Proposals regarding the bonus rule, which has been in effect for two years, range from eliminating it completely to establishing a uniform $6,000 maximum payment to a free agent before he is given bonus status.

President George M. Trautman of the national association said in a pre-convention statement that too many clubs are paying large bonuses.

"There are far too many examples of failure on the part of players who have received exorbitant bonuses to justify the practice as a sound business venture," Trautman said.

In other action yesterday, the national congress revised its contract rules to prevent players from jumping from one team to another.

Hamilton Leaves Navy To Take Reins at Pitt

ANNAPOLIS, Md.—(U.P.)—After more than two decades in the navy, Tom Hamilton turned his athletic abilities to the University of Pittsburgh today with the frank warning, "I'm no Messiah."

Hamilton yesterday received permission to resign from the navy, which he served as academy athletic director here, to take a similar job with Pitt, once one of football's greatest powers but now relatively impotent.

"I'm going to Pittsburgh to work," Hamilton said, "and work I will. But I'm no Messiah."

"Special plans? No, I have none yet. Right now I'm just being happy over the opportunity."

Hamilton was not scheduled to become Pitt's director of athletics and physical education until Feb. 1, his official retirement date from the navy. Reports from Pittsburgh said Hamilton was expected to increase the number of intercollegiate sports at Pitt as well as intramural and physical education programs as soon as facilities are available.

Hamilton, these reports said, will receive about $15,000 a year under a contract covering an indefinite period.

The opportunity to develop his broad athletic abilities at Pitt apparently was not the only thing due to make Hamilton happy. He had dallied over accepting the Pittsburgh offer because he nursed that one big ambition of all navy men—to become an admiral.

From Washington came reports that Hamilton may realize that ambition. The navy board of retirement, reports said, may retire Hamilton, now a captain, with the rank of rear admiral and the benefits of captain, a move permissible when an officer has received decoration or commendations for service. Hamilton has received a Bronze Star and two Legions of Merit for combat duty in the Pacific during the war.

Pitt officials, meanwhile, were jubilant over their successful efforts to obtain Hamilton.

Chancellor Rufus H. Fitzgerald said, "We're very, very delighted" at Hamilton's acceptance of the post. "But," he added, "we do not expect any immediate results or miracles."

Head Football Coach Mike Milligan probably will not be included in any personnel shakeup next year by Hamilton. Milligan's team this season compiled Pitt's best record in 10 years with six victories against three defeats.

Senior Church League Opens

Three games in the Senior church league mark the 1948-49 debut of that basketball circuit tonight on the YMCA courts.

Ontario Community and St. Matthews have the honor of getting the ball rolling at 7 p. m. while Park Avenue Baptist and United Brethren meet in the second game and First Methodist and First Christian in the third. The seventh team, Lucas Lutheran, has a bye.

One set of three games will be played each Tuesday through March 1. Each team will play every other team twice during the season.

Barons Will Face 3 Tough Foes This Week

(By International News Service)

The fourth place Cleveland Barons, still far from their championship form of last season, but unbeaten in their last five games, three of them ties, face three tough opponents in a row this week.

Buffalo, in second place in the western division with 30 points, will tackle the Barons tomorrow in Buffalo. Indianapolis, one point behind the Barons with 26 points will meet the Clevelanders Thursday in Indianapolis.

Nolting's Grid Job In Jeopardy Today

CINCINNATI —(AP)— The hot water that has been simmering around Ray Nolting, University of Cincinnati football coach, is due to come to a boil today.

U C's nine-man board of directors will meet at 3 p. m. today and is expected to decide whether to renew Nolting's contract, which expires in February, or whether to start looking for another coach.

Nolting, a U C. graduate and a member of the Chicago Bears for almost a decade, has been rumored as on his way out at various times during the past seasons.

Oosterbaan Chosen

NEW YORK - (UP) - Bennie Oosterbaan, who guided Michigan's football team through its second straight undefeated season in his first campaign as head coach, today was named coach of the year in the annual poll of the New York World-Telegram and Associated Scripps-Howard newspapers.

Teachers Get First Place In Pin Loop

The Schoolmasters took over first place in the Club league last night with a two-out-of-three game margin over Baku Grotto on the Colony alleys. The Optimists, tied for the top spot, dropped one game off the pace as they bowed twice to Globe Steel.

Individual honors in the league went to Fritz Schnittke for a 182-221-171—574. Ernie Faight also came in for his share with a 245 single game.

P. Mayer had a 567 series followed by Will, 563. Fred Miller, 556, Ed Miller, 555, and Pete Linster, 554.

Lou Faiello's 595 set the pace in the Richland A league. He had games of 192, 208, and 195, while Dale Cleckner, Richland manager, was runnerup with 565.

John Shipp had a 547 and J. Eliot a 535.

★

Marion Day and Bill Black jr. tied for the honors with 575's in the Commercial C league. Day, rolled with Pioneer Printers, had games of 173-199-203 while Black put together marks of 178, 225, and 172. Emmett McIntire had the best single game, a 238.

Carlisle of Long Bar turned in a 572. Fred of Frisch Grocery, 566, Mac Southward of Mansfield Tire, 565.

★

Only two women went over the 500 mark in the Women's Variety league, but both had fine scores. Donna Schuster fired a 158-184-225—567, while Mary Dintamin pounded out 165-179-212—556.

★

Cliff Penrose's 179-173-191—543 led Gorman-Rupp bowlers, while he was tied for single game honors with Earl Turner's 191. Donald Bachman outblasted them both with a 219.

A 449 by Helen Hazen paced Mansfield Tire women. Marcella Glorison turned in 433 and Marilyn Daniels, 427.

Danowskil's Contract Renewed By Fordham

NEW YORK — (INS) — When Fordham university edges back into big time football next season, Ed Danowski again will be coach.

The contract of the former backfield star of the New York Giants as head coach of the Rams has been renewed for one year, despite rumors that he might lose the job.

'A' Loop Lead Taken By Martin Hardware

The joyride for the Yuncker's Sports team appeared to be over in the City A league today as Martin Hardware, another unheralded quintet, appeared at the top of the heap.

Yuncker's lost its first game of the season, 27-23, to powerful Urschel Insurance last night at John Simpson while the Hardware boys notched their second victory, 42-33, over Komito's Clothes.

ONLY CLEAR RECORD

Martin's is the only undefeated team left in the loop.

Comebacks were the order of the night as fourth quarter rallys decided all three games. Ohio Sport Center, trailing 51-45, going into the final period, beat Richland Beverage, 63-57. Cornelius Vanderbilt, last year's Plymouth high school star, dumped in 20 points for Sport Center.

Urschel's, led by Nick Gagich's 18 counters, broke loose from a third quarter 17-all tie to whip Yuncker's. It was the Insurancemen's second victory in three games.

Ed Chatlain and Bob Lewis were the heroes of the Martin Hardware victory. Both accounted for three field goals in the final period to easily break a 25-25 fourth quarter deadlock.

Spurt Brings 44-37 Victory

Reese Optical, Westinghouse and Main Cigar store won American league Class B games at Senior high.

Main Cigar had to overcome a 30-27 third period lead by Ideal Electric, while the other two clubs had little trouble. Mansfield Tire won from Reese Optical by a 36-27 count, Main beat Ideal, 44-37, and Westinghouse failed to turn in a score after walloping Shorty's News.

Meeker, of Reese Optical, was the scoring leader of the session with 20 points racked up on seven field goals and six free throws. Snavely, of Mansfield Tire, got 13.

Adams, of Ideal, set the pace in that game with 16 counters. Ernie Tinkey, of Ideal, had 14 points while Reynolds and Bert Lindsay, of Main, both collected eleven.

Buck Cagers Romp to Down Marquette

COLUMBUS — (UP) — A high scoring Ohio State basketball team looked like a contender in the Big Nine today after it easily defeated Marquette, 72-47, before 5,000 fans here last night in the fairgrounds coliseum.

Ohio State turned the non-conference game into a rout after battling Marquette on even terms for the first seven minutes.

Dick Schnittker, fast-breaking Ohio State forward who placed third in the Big Nine scoring last year, netted 13 points to share scoring honors with teammate Bob Raidiger and Marquette's tall center, Frank McCabe.

After the Ohio State regulars built up a 42 to 21 halftime margin, Coach Tippy Dye cleared the benches. The reserves managed to protect the comfortable lead for the rest of the game.

It was Ohio State's second straight win and Marquette's second loss in four games.

Cleveland Bout To Go Tonight

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Heavyweights Jimmy Bivins and Joe Maxim trade punches in a 10-rounder at the arena tonight with the winner becoming a strong candidate for a bout with champion Joe Louis next June.

It's almost a certainty that the victor will fight Jersey Joe Walcott here next month in one of a series of eliminations to find a suitable opponent for Louis.

Matchmaker Larry Atkins reported Walcott's manager, Felix Bocchicchio would arrive today to discuss contract negotiations and remain to see the Bivins-Maxim fracas.

"I feel pretty certain that Walcott will fight here because of the money he can make," Atkins declared. "I've offered him a $20,000 guarantee to fight the winner of the Bivins-Maxim bout here Jan. 13 and I don't know where else he can get that kind of money."

Loudonville Boy Awarded Football

LOUDONVILLE—Ken Nouse, Loudonville halfback of the Wooster college football team, will receive a miniature gold football as an award for his third year of varsity service. He is a senior and will graduate in January.

Nouse received a broken leg in the last game of the year with Wittenberg. The honors will be given out at the annual grid banquet on Dec. 6.

Savold Loses On 'Foul', Says Referee

By ROBERT MUSEL

LONDON — (UP) — Lee Savold of Paterson, N. J., still had a chance today for a June title fight with Joe Louis, although he was the victim last night of Great Britain's antiquated foul rule when he was disqualified in the fourth round of his bout with Bruce Woodcock.

Referee Sam Russell awarded victory to Woodcock at 1:40 of the fourth when the European and British empire heavyweight champion was writhing on the canvas after a low right punch to the groin.

Because veteran Savold was winning by a wide margin when the foul occurred, Lew Burston—foreign representative of Mike Jacobs' 20th Century club — said he was willing to sign blond Savold to a provisional Louis fight contract.

EAGER FOR CONTRACT

Manager Bill Daly and Savold were eager for the Louis contract. It was Daly who leaped into the ring when Woodcock's hand was raised in victory and who yelled, "This is murder!" He then bellowed at ringside reporters that Woodcock was an unprecedented "faker" who had gone down "whining" when on t he verge of a knockout.

Even promoter Jack Solomons was so dissatisfied with the result, despite the $120,000 gate, that he conferred with managers of both fighters today in hopes of making a re-match.

Most boxing men believed Savold, 188 pounds, would have knocked out his 191-pound opponent had the scheduled 10-round bout been permitted to continue.

Savold, who never has been disqualified previously in 14 years of professional fighting, floored his nervous and apparently washed-up opponent for a count of eight in the third round.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

"I'M A MARINE!"

Never Before has Service in the Marine Corps offered so many Opportunities in Education, Specialized Trainings, Pay Advantages and Advancement.

Many young men are looking into the opportunities offered by a career in the Marine Corps, and never in the long history of this famous organization have opportunities for training and education been better. There are a lot of young men, too, who would like to join the Marine Corps for the training, comradeship, travel and immediate pay that it offers but who plan to return to civilian life after a number of years. Right now is a particularly good time for this large group to look into what the United States Marine Corps offers particularly to young men in the age group of 17 and 18, as a splendid "training ground" for a useful and profitable civilian career. The Marine Corps is right up to the minute in its equipment and methods. Here you have a chance to learn the very newest in radar, electronics, engineering, motor transportation, aviation, etc. You learn under the direction of experts—and you get paid while learning, paid not only in money but in the companionship of the finest group of men, bar none, ever assembled in any military organization anywhere.

The new plan of short term enlistments has a lot to offer right now, when conditions in civil life are quite unsettled. These short term enlistments offer you two things right away. First, they offer the immediate advantages of good pay, good food, healthy and interesting living, and a chance to learn a useful and profitable trade. Second, they offer you a chance to settle in your own mind whether or not you want to make the Marine Corps a permanent career, as many young men do. You do not need to interrupt your education, for the Marine Corps Institute offers you the chance to complete your High School courses and to qualify for College credits if you wish. You can almost literally "write your own ticket" in respect to what studies you want to pursue and how far you want to carry them. And these courses are free.

CUT AND MAIL TODAY!

General Motors Executive, Two Girls Killed In Crash

CAA Blames Heavy Fog For Crackup

Light Plane Demolished

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)—Civil aeronautics authorities believed today that a heavy fog may have been at least partially responsible for the crash of a light private airplane 10 miles west of here that killed a General Motors official and two women employes.

The victims were Werner J. Blanchard, 48, pilot of the plane and general manager of the Aero Products division of General Motors in Dayton; Miss Vivian E. Johnson, 29, and Miss Betty Ann Charles, 28. Miss Johnson and Miss Charles were both engineers with the Dayton firm.

The twisted wreckage of the four-place silver and green Nation was found in a cornfield near Alton, O., late yesterday by Fred Mayer, 22, and Delmar Miles, 22, both of Columbus. The craft had been missing since it took off from Jamestown, N. Y., at 4 p. m. Saturday for Dayton.

The CAA said the accident apparently was caused b ythe heavy fog that drifted in over the Great Lakes area during the plane's flight. Blanchard apparently was trying to make a forced landing and it was considered possible that he became lost in the heavy fog.

The landing wheels were lowered, and highway patrolmen believed the craft had flipped over when the wheels touched the soft earth.

The bodies of the victims were scattered over a radius of 100 feet. The plane was demolished but did not burn.

Army and private planes had been searching for the missing craft since Blanchard's wife telephoned Buffalo, N. Y., Saturday night saying her husband was overdue.

Blanchard had gone to Buffalo Saturday for a business conference. En route he dropped off the two women at the home of Miss Johnson's brother, Marshall Johnson of Jamestown. He later returned from Buffalo, picked the two passengers up and departed on the fateful flight to Dayton

Blanchard had been piloting his own plane for four years. He was a member of the University of Illinois committee on aeronautics and president of the board of trustees at Antioch college.

Actor Kicks Cop's Shins

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Movie Actor Errol Flynn, star of a number of one-punch Hollywood nightclub brawls, tangled with a New York cop in a police station early today and was thrown into jail on a third degree assault charge.

Police said the dashing Irish actor kicked one of New York's finest on the shins. Flynn, who received a cut lip and got his tuxedo mussed in the brawl, spent an hour in the police bull pen with drunks and "common criminals" before he was released in $500 bail. He was ordered to appear at 10 a. m. for a hearing.

"This is like the gestapo," Flynn said after his release. "This could happen in Germany and Russia. I've been framed."

Flynn, a contender for the light heavyweight boxing title in the 1928 Olympics, ran afoul of the law shortly before 2 a. m.

Scholarships Are Offered

CINCINNATI —(AP)— The University of Cincinnati has been offered three new industrial scholarships for co-operative students in the colleges of engineering and business administration, President Raymond Walters announced today.

Dr. Walters said he will recommend to the university board of directors today that the scholarships be accepted.

Two $1,000 scholarships, open to students from the Portsmouth, O., area, have been offered by the Williams Manufacturing company, of Portsmouth, makers of women's shoes, in the name of the late A. Graves Williams, former head of the firm.

Minnesota Society to Throw Party Honoring Paul Bunyan

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— The last time I heard of Paul Bunyan he was only several hundred feet tall, according to his press agent.

That was in 1936.

The scene was a leafy little woodland patch back of Brainerd, Minn. I'll never forget it.

There was the agent for the fabulous, legendary superman and woodsman of the great northwest giving me the play-by-play on Bunyan's private life. Telling about the time Bunyan sat down to a sandwich made by stuffing a cow (horns and all) between two bun-factories. And about the time Bunyan sneezed and blasted the roof right off a lumberman's bunkhouse two miles away.

Well, Paul, like all good friends gets around. His agent called me this morning, to say that Paul is standing by in the Maryland woods waiting for his big day in the national capital.

That'll be Jan. 7, 1949, when he is supposed to be the honored guest at a party pitched by the Minnesota State society, which claims that atomic energy and Bunyan are synonomous—except that Paul came first!!

The agent told me that Paul has grown in stature in the past few years.

"He spent all summer featherdusting the great stone faces carved atop Mt Rushmore in South Dakota," the agent said. "Paul had to get down on his knees so he could see what he was doing."

Mt. Rushmore, according to the world almanac, is 6,200 feet high.

There are all sorts of stories about Paul and his blue ox, Babe The great man is supposed to have dug and built Niagara Falls so he could take a shower Lake Superior, they claim, wouldn't be where it is if Babe didn't need a place to wallow. The ox was said to be seven or 10 axe-handles between the eyes. And when he died he was buried in northwestern South Dakota. His burial plot now is known as the Black Hills. They say.

But up in the northwest they still are talking about the winter of the blue snow.

It was a mystery until some wag whittling around a pot-bellied stove suggested that Paul probably was to blame It was recalled that the legendary woodsman and patron saint had whacked his thumb a good one with a 100-pound hammer. The cussin' that came from the Bunyan lips turned the air blue. And the snow, too.

We in Washington can hardly wait for Jan. 7.

RED POLICY CHANGE

SPRINGFIELD —(AP)— China's nationalist government has lost the confidence of the masses and will fight a "losing battle" until it changes its policies, Col. M Thomas Tachou, a former secretary to Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, said yesterday.

Indict Couple In Rent Fraud

COLUMBUS— (AP) —Kenneth M. Morris and his wife, Mary, both 32, were under grand jury indictment today in connection with the renting of a home they did not own. The couple, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, are accused of accepting $325 as six months rent from Mrs. Willard Parsley. The indictment did not state how they were able to convince Mrs. Parsley they had the renting of the house.

Three Get Life

YOUNGSTOWN — (AP) — The last of six men convicted in the fatal beating last April of Cyril Runk, a railroad worker, today were under sentence of life imprisonment in Ohio penitentiary. Common Pleas Judge David G Jenkins overruled motions for new trials in the cases of Robert McKinney, 26; Thomas Williams, 21, and James Haldret, 17

Funeral Arranged

YOUNGSTOWN — (INS) — Funeral services were arranged today in Youngstown for Thomas M. Beck, 52, a former city policeman for 26 years Beck, after bidding good-bye to his wife and a young child, killed himself in the back yard of his home yesterday.

33 Rescued By Carrier

rier to Honolulu said all the men were in "reasonably good condition," despite their ordeal.

The survivors reported in shipboard interviews that two of the aerial troop carrier's 37 occupants "went down" when the plane crash-landed early Sunday after developing engine trouble.

Another died last night. The fourth jumped overboard and was "presumably drowned" seven hours before the Rescuers reached the scene and rescued the 33 men.

Names of the dead and of the survivors were not immediately disclosed by navy authorities.

The survivors were picked up last night, climaxing a far-flung air and sea search in the area located some 375 miles southwest of tiny Johnston island.

The two life-rafts carrying the survivors were sighted yesterday afternoon by the crew of a navy PBY patrol bomber, one of 19 planes which had been scouring the region through Sunday and Monday.

The patrol bomber circled over the rafts for several hours while three navy surface craft converged on the scene. The Rendova was the first ship to arrive

Distress flares had been sighted during yesterday's pre-dawn darkness, but the two rafts were not immediately found in the vicinity at daybreak.

The ill-fated C-54 carried a crew of seven and 30 passengers when two of its four engines broke loose and it was forced down.

The passengers were ground personnel from the 98th Bomber Group returning to Spokane, Wash., after a 90-day training assignment on Okinawa.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

ALTHOUTH there may be definite emphases on the social, domestic and affectional life, or careers based upon professional or commercial promotion of kindred interests are in line for pleasant and flourishing performance. The element of charm or magnetism could be more effective than the application of intellectuality or argument, since there is sign of conflict or confusion in mental processes. Errors, false moves, could alienate support from desired places. Shun strife and overindulgence.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find the accent on the personal life rather than business or career. The latter may be complicated by confused thinking, obscure judgment, or downright errors or false moves Particular precaution should be used in making contracts, agreements or in writings of any character. With social and sentimental factors stimulated, charm and personality may prove important and influential in promoting plans or aims.

A child born on this day will have strong social and cultural faculties and instincts, although its mentality may be slow, for commonplace judgment or rationalizing.

Commissioners OK Transfers Totaling More Than $2,700

County operating fund transfers totaling more than $2,700 have been approved by the county commissioners, the board's record showed today.

The auditor's office explained that transfers were made from funds in which there is a surplus to aid departments which otherwise would be "in the red" before the end of the year.

Commissioners authorized transtransfer from three bridge appropriations of $1,485 to the appropriation marked "Contract work, bridges."

Transfer of $850 from the juvenile detention home appropriation to the "other health" appropriation was approved.

Also authorized was shifting of $100 from the aid to the blind medical appropriation to the aid of the blind relief aid appropriation.

Commissioners approved a cash transfer of $349 from blind relief administration to the aid to dependent administration, for the three-month period ended Sept. 30, 1948. Work of both agencies is handled out of one office and the administrative costs are paid out of the aid to dependent children administration fund.

Bus, Leaf Blazes Bring Firemen

Burning leaves in a Woodland backyard and defective wiring on a city bus brought out city firemen yesterday and early today.

At 4:35 p.m. yesterday, No. 3 station firemen went to 845 Andover road where leaves were burning in the backyard. Firemen said nothing was damaged.

A fire in the wiring of a city bus at Fourth and Main streets brought out one engine from Central station at 6:20 a.m today. Firemen said damage was slight.

Hear Story Of Cross

Dr. Charles F. Sheriff, Mansfield pastor, and Dr. W. Stechow of the Oberlin college fine arts department, addressed the Richland County Ministerial association at its Christmas meeting yesterday at the St. John's Evangelical church.

Dr. Sheriff discussed the significance of the cross. It signifies redemption, sacrifice, power, victory, and permanency, he said.

Dr. Stechow gave an illustrated lecture on "Adoration of the Magi," tracing the history of Christmas art from ancient to modern times.

Studebaker
LOS ANGELES
BOSTON
Once again
Studebaker writes its name across the nation!

He's driven a million miles without a major highway accident Why don't you follow this expert's example

STUDEBAKER is sponsoring a dramatic, nationwide effort to hammer home to the American people the urgent need for safe and sane driving on all our streets and highways.

Harry Hartz, famous racing car designer and driver who is now a Studebaker truck engineer, is piloting a half-ton Studebaker truck 10,000 miles across the United States.

Hartz's itinerary is so arranged that a tracing of his Los Angeles-Boston route on the map spells out "Studebaker." He will stop in hundreds of villages, towns and cities, urging motorists and pedestrians to be constantly careful, cautious and considerate.

You, your family and your friends can join in this nationwide effort to make America's highways safer. Drive safely . . . walk safely . . . practice safety every day. Remember, the life you save may be your own!

Shelby Sets Up Test Case On Streets

Council Acts On Clarification

SHELBY—City council started the wheels rolling last night towards solving the confusion being caused by streets bearing two or more names and incorrect numbers in Shelby.

As a test case council passed a resolution to notify property owners concerned regarding the proposed change of Madison avenue to Simeon and the renumbering of this street from the creek east to Jenner avenue.

This street is being used as a test case since most of the complaints from the postal authorities, fire department, police centered on this section. Other streets bearing two names will be considered when the results of this test case can be observed.

Council authorized the mayor to advertise for bids on stone, lime and soda ash for use by the street department.

A resolution was passed authorizing the Moody and Thomas Milling company to construct a side track across East Whitney avenue west of the present track for the purpose of additional unloading space.

A motion was passed to receive a petition from property owners of Plum avenue for the construction of a storm sewer from Plum avenue to Post street extending west to the new Shelby school also authorizing the engineers to submit plans covering this construction.

Request also was received covering the grading of Plum avenue and the possibility of a temporary ditch on the south side of the street to relieve the storm conditions until the construction of the sewer can be completed.

Acts Tonight On Street Plan

A measure determining to proceed with condemnation action to obtain a 60-foot strip of land to extend East Fifth street from Snyder street to the Ashland road, tops council's calendar for tonight's meeting.

Other items on the abbreviated agenda include a measure authorizing payment of a number of claims for damage due to broken city water lines and a bill to provide for cleaning and caring for the dividing plots in Glenwood and Parkwood boulevards and Brinkerhoff avenue.

Trading Fairly Active But Stock Market Tips Downward

NEW YORK —(AP)— The stock market tipped downward at the start of trade today.

In fairly active business, losses of fractions were spread among a wide variety of issues. A few moved against the trend for small gains.

Bethlehem Steel lost ⅜ on a 1,600-share transaction and declines were also posted for Deere and company, Anaconda Copper, Santa Fe, Illinois Central, DuPont, International Paper, Woolworth, Standard Oil (NJ), U. S. Steel, Radio corporation, and Westinghouse Electric, the last on transfer of 2,500 shares.

Montgomery Ward and Schenley managed to advance.

Rink Sought In Ashland Yule Drive

ASHLAND—A combination ice-skating rink and playground for the Ashland county children's home is the main goal of this year's annual Ashland Christmas fund campaign for assisting needy children of the county.

If sufficient funds are donated, the rink will be open to the public as a replacement for the Eastern avenue rink which was closed because of a real estate development on the grounds.

If the fund raised is sufficient, additional aid will be given other needy children of the county and those at the home will be provided with ice skates and warm woolen socks. Funds also may include benefits for the aged persons at the Ashland county home.

Clubs, social groups, churches, patriotic organizations and individuals are being asked to contribute to the fund.

Growth of School Safety Program In Galion Lauded

GALION — A school safety patrol program was presented to members of the Galion Rotary club at their dinner-meeting, last night, at Hotel Talbott, with William Bradfield in charge.

"In Galion, the school safety patrol program was started 18 years ago under the auspices of the Galion Automobile club, of which Grace Thomas is secretary," City Patrolman Morris Bowers told the group when he appeared as speaker.

"The patrol in Galion has some 150 boys and girls as members," Bowers said. He told the club the school patrol's popularity is growing each year. The Galion Automobile club furnishes all equipment used by these safety patrols which now are functioning in all local schools, the patrolman said.

He reported members of the safety patrol are sworn into office, and their oath is similar to the one taken by city policemen. "Boys and girls of the safe-patrol," Bowers said, "have a sense of responsibility toward their work."

"At the end of each school year, school safety patrol members are given certificate of awards and badges by the automobile club. Each year they are guests of the automobile club at a picture show and once a year the boys and girls are banqueted by the club as reward for their efforts in safeguarding the lives of their schoolmates," Bowers explained. He also told the safety patrol members are admitted free to all football and basketball games in the school system.

Patrolman Bowers told the group he and Mrs. Thomas have spoken before all school classes here at some time during the year on safety measures. He said they emphasize safety and try to impress that regulations and laws regarding traffic are enforced for the purpose of safeguarding lives and for the good of all rather than to punish anyone.

Bowers was preceded on the program by Harold Garverick, captain of the East school safety patrol and a member of the 6th grade of that school. He gave a short history of the club, and said it was first formed in the East and West schools, and that others were formed in North and South and parochial schools.

Grace Thomas was a guest of the club, as was Robert Porter of the Mansfield Rotary club.

The program concluded with the showing of a talking picture, "Driven to Kill."

Should a Bride keep her job?

AMERICAN FAMILY CLOSE-UP
As they go, so goes the nation!

Like so many other newly-weds today, this was the first problem Dana and Evelyn Mox of Dayton, Ohio, had to face . . .

From honeymoon to money matters, their new life is exciting, challenging, to Dana and Evelyn Mox! Married just last June, they started with no house, no furniture, and only "rainy-day money" in the bank.

Even on Dana's pay as a tool maker in a chemical plant, it wouldn't be easy, they saw, both to provide for the children they hope for and to plan for the kind of life they want. Not with rising prices and a world far from calm! How best to reach their goals . . . and have their share of fun besides? What if Evelyn kept on with her job? Would the advantages outweigh the drawbacks?

The Moxes knew it would take careful management to have a happy home life if she kept her job too. But they decided it was well worth a try . . .

They work in the plant where they met, have same hours, drive to work together. As secretary to purchasing agent, she adds $165 a month to Dana's $279 "take-home" pay. But her job means higher taxes; extra clothes, lunches.

Shopping's harder for a working wife. Evelyn must market after work or Saturdays. But deciding menus together and finding what bargains they can is fun! Including lunches at the plant, food costs them $22.50 a week.

Time for fun is doubly appreciated by a working couple. "By planning fixed expenses in advance," they explain, "we know just what we can afford for bowling and other things. So we don't worry about spending too much!"

Dana shares the chores because of Evelyn's all-day job. Shampooing rug was his initiation into housekeeping! Even the washing machine holds no mysteries for Mr. Mox!

Now they have definite goals for the $90 a month they hope to save by both working! As to furniture, for example, the newly-weds are learning to know what they both like by visiting the stores together. By starting out in a $65-a-month furnished apartment, they gave themselves time to decide just what kind of house they want, too.

Even before they married, they worked out their life insurance plans! Already they have two retirement income life insurance policies that will total $13,725 at age 65. They're planning with their agent for more. As a fixed monthly item, they put $31.86 towards their present life insurance protection. "We know the kind of future we want," the Moxes will tell you, "and we're finding it fun to work as a team and stick to our budget to get a good start!"

A second honeymoon like their first in Florida is in the Moxes' "Someday Book." They're digging in now to make all their dreams come true sooner!

THE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES AND THEIR AGENTS

BRING YOU THIS STORY BECAUSE... families like the Moxes show us one way that happiness is earned! You, yourself, probably know a family, right in your own town, that is getting ahead in the same typically American way. Such families prove to all of us that we can solve our own problems by our own efforts. . . . Their example shows too why it is so important for us to hold to our rights to think for ourselves, to work at what we like, to live as we choose. For what this country amounts to depends upon what happens to its homes!

Seven Years Ago, and Now

IN THE SEVEN years since the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, a war has been won in Europe and another in the Pacific. A world federation of nations has been organized to supply the framework of a permanent peace.

Indeed, there has hardly been a more momentous seven-year period in the history of the world than from Dec. 7, 1941, to Dec. 7, 1948. In this short span of time the atomic age began.

Yet today we find ourselves if not faced with the dire fact of war, at least continually troubled by fear of it. The framework of peace so hopefully erected at San Francisco has trembled constantly with the echo of accusations and recriminations.

It has been shaken by actual fighting in Palestine, by internecine conflict in Greece. Good will has shattered itself against the Russian iron curtain like a bird beating its wings hopelessly against a window pane.

Truly, the world seems less secure now than at any time since Rome and Carthage decided one of the two must dominate all civilization and all commerce. Historians have pointed out how fruitless and wasteful were the long wars which finally brought Carthage to utter destruction and Rome to world supremacy. Yet those were historians speaking—they were looking backward and talking with the knowledge and morality of hindsight. Today we must look forward. We must base our judgment as much on what is yet to come as on what has already gone before.

Even with the naked horror and the deadening grief of war still fresh upon us, we must decide whether stupidity and vacillation shall again invite a foreign power to visit another Pearl Harbor upon us or whether firmness, courage, and a clear U. S. policy shall show the world what we stand for and what we intend to maintain.

Such a firm, bold policy must, of course, be made absolutely clear in every detail to our own people as well as the rest of the world.

The government has no right to conceal from its people the direction in which we are moving. Every tenet should be meticulously explained, every purpose clearly and honorably stated.

Only in this way can we face the world, united because we are informed and convinced of the righteousness of what we do. Only in this way can we avoid the shame of disaster visited upon us by those who underestimate our power and are deceived by our contradictions and our mumbo-jumbo secrecy in Washington.

The future is not bright, but it will be far better if we lead the way to forthrightness, boldness, and humanity in international relations.

Early Start on Criminal Road

YESTERDAY'S News-Journal contained further reports of criminal activities in Mansfield, with deepest concern centering on the arrest of two 16-year-old boys who were caught in the act of attempting to break into a store on Springmill street.

One of these boys, it is revealed, has a delinquency record dating back five years, and is under suspended sentence to the boys' industrial school. Both are said to be habitual truants from school.

Just what should be done in cases of this kind is problematical, as Ohio is poorly equipped to deal properly with juvenile offenders in such a way as to induce reformation, and much of the environment in cities such as Mansfield tends to break down respect for law, rather than to impress children and adults with the idea that obeying all laws is a requirement of good citizenship.

Juvenile delinquency, if left uncurbed, is almost sure to lead to more serious adult criminality—and if an object lesson is needed, there is Murl Daniels, in death row in the Columbus penitentiary, awaiting electrocution on Jan. 3. Let's not allow Mansfield to become a breeding place for future occupants of the electric chair.

Communists Weak In West Berlin

EXTENT to which Soviet Russia must depend on minority force to impose its will on its satellite countries was clearly shown in Sunday's elections in that section of Berlin not under Russian domination.

More than 86 per cent of all qualified voters went to the polls, despite attempted intimidation by communists, and a substantial majority was recorded for the Social Democratic party, outspoken foes of communism.

The elections were boycotted by the communists in that Berlin area, but had all of them voted their percentage would have been small, as compared with their chief foes — the Social Democrats.

While the outcome of these elections will probably have no immediate effect on the precarious Berlin situation, it may be expected to strengthen determination to prevent the entire city from falling into Russian hands.

Encouraging Word From Georgia

A SUPPORTER of Gene and Herman Talmadge in Georgia has offered a $500 reward for the ambush slayers of a Toombs county Negro, saying that he believes in "white supremacy," but not in murder and lynch violence. The money has been left with an Atlanta newspaper by an unidentified subscriber. All that is known is that he calls himself a "wool hat Georgian," a thoroughly rural citizen.

Outsiders have been surprised by the strength of the Talmadges in Georgia. Their campaigns were largely based on race hatred and discrimination. Apparently their followers do not necessarily share their extreme views.

Noting that a court has ruled that a wife may take what money she needs from her husband's pocket, the Kansas City Star comments: "It is always comforting to find a law that permits people to do what they are going to do anyway."

What Some Other People Are Saying

COL. FRANK HOWLEY, American commandant in Berlin: "The turnout in the Berlin election was an overwhelming condemnation to Soviet domination. It also represented a vote of confidence in the legal city government which the communists tried to discredit."

* * *

SEN. MYERS (D-Pa): "Passage of President Truman's civil rights program hinges on Republican support. The program is fundamentally a geographic rather than a political problem."

* * *

FRANCIS B. SAYRE, U. S. delegate to the United Nations: "The Soviet Union must learn to cooperate with other nations. We are facing global problems that will never be solved except on humanitarian considerations."

Washington Calling

Many Men, Many Minds

By MARQUIS CHILDS

SINCE President Truman returned to Washington, a number of callers have been urging on him the necessity to bring into his administration men with new ideas and new energies.

Among them are many of the liberal Democrats who helped, as the final election returns in state after state clearly show, to achieve the Democratic victory.

Behind their urging is the fear that unless positive, creative, constructive action is taken, the Truman administration will fail to make good on the promises of the campaign.

As was demonstrated in 1946, when the President had at least a nominally Democratic Congress, it is not enough merely to send messages proposing this or that program.

One of the recent callers was Chester Bowles, who was elected governor of Connecticut by a narrow majority although the state's electoral votes went in the Republican column. In many ways Bowles is typical of the new forces in the Democratic party that are certain to play a more and more important role in the future.

In partnership with William Benton in a highly successful advertising firm, Bowles made a tidy fortune. When they sold their firm, both men decided to devote themselves to public service.

As head of the Office of Price Administration during the latter half of the war and in the immediate post-war aftermath, Bowles had a job that was tough and demanding with little chance, or so it seemed, to win personal popularity. Moreover, he consistently advocated a tough anti-inflationary policy and in so doing stepped on many sensitive toes.

* * *

Advises "New Approach"

WHEN Bowles resigned, his relationship with the White House was not too happy. He had been critical of policies that he felt were essentially inflationary in their effects.

During a vacation spent on a small yacht in Chesapeake Bay, Bowles has been in and out of Washington talking to his friends and former associates. He has expressed his concern at what seems to him lack of new ideas and a new approach to the problems of the day.

The administration is coasting, Bowles has said, on the ideas out of the old New Deal. Thinking still prevails along the line of the Keynesian theory of spending to create purchasing power even though it is obvious that the current inflation, with its threat of a depression, calls for a different kind of appraisal with quite different measures to meet the present situation.

To jog along in the ruts made in the recent past is to risk a stalemate like that of 1946.

In that year the voters put the blame on the President for high prices and the other ills that came with the end of the war. They elected the 80th Congress with Republican majorities in House and Senate.

President Truman is 64 years old. After the age of 50 or 55, very few people ever change their attitudes or their ways. The likelihood for change, either in personnel or point of view, would therefore seem to be small.

But the liberal-progressive-laborites in the Democratic party insist that the pattern must inevitably change. The President, they point out, will begin a full term of office that he won for himself and with a mandate pointing inexorably to changes.

The Nation Today

Inauguration Coming Up

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — Getting ready for President Truman's inauguration January 20 has Washington hopping around like a man with firecrackers in his ears.

Those running the show are in a fast spin trying to take care of the details. They want to make it the biggest inauguration in American history. They probably will, unless it rains or snows.

They figure about 750,000 people will see the inauguration itself or the parade that follows, either from grandstand seats or standing on the curb. The cost probably will hit around $300,000.

Other millions of people around the country will follow it on their radios or over television. It will be the first inauguration ever televised. And the whole place will swarm with newspaper reporters.

But since the show is still about seven weeks away, most of the details still have to be filled in.

Around noon on January 20 Mr. Truman will be sworn in for his first full term in office by Chief Justice Vinson of the U. S. Supreme Court. The President's term begins that day.

He will take this oath, already set down in the Constitution for all presidents:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States."

Then Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky will take the oath as vice president. It's not known at this point who'll administer the oath to him.

All this will take place on the east side of the Capitol, where for months carpenters have been building about 14,000 wooden seats in the open air, facing the building.

The people who get those seats—free—will be diplomats, members of the Supreme Court, congressmen and senators, members of the President's cabinet, and others, all by invitation.

After he takes the oath, the President will deliver his inaugural address. Then he and the vice president will scoot off to lunch.

* * *

Then Comes the Parade.

SO MUCH for what happens at the Capitol. All the arrangements there are in the hands of a special congressional committee. Congress this year voted money to take care of those expenses.

Then an inaugural committee—not connected with Congress — takes over. A parade will start at the Capitol and wind down through Pennsylvania avenue until it passes the White House a mile away.

This parade will last two or three hours and will be full of soldiers, sailors, marines, West Point and Annapolis cadets, Army bands, Navy bands, the governors of states and floats representing the various states.

All this will pass the massed thousands standing along the line of march and other thousands who have been able to buy seats in the wooden grandstands built along the way.

In front of the White House, in a block-long grandstand, President Truman will review the parade, surrounded by friends and guests.

The business people of Washington are putting up the money to build the stands along the line of march. Tickets for seats in them cost from $2 to $10 or more.

(If you're thinking of coming here and want such a seat, send your application to the Inaugural Committee, Room 166, Tariff Building, 7th and E Streets, Northwest, Washington, D. C.)

There'll be a big inaugural ball on the night of January 20. This is by invitation. Because of fire rules, only 5,200 can get into the National Guard armory, where it will be held.

Hirohito Hopes For U. S.-Japan Alliance

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Only a few years ago the imperial court doctor, feeling the pulse of the emperor of Japan, placed silken gauze over his wrist. No mortal was allowed to touch the skin of his imperial majesty.

And the court tailor, measuring the emperor for a suit of clothes, stood halfway across the room and appraised him with his eye. He was not permitted to approach closer.

But a few days ago in Tokyo, a modern miracle took place when a Cleveland-Washington lawyer, Joseph B. Keenan, sent to Japan to prosecute Japan's highest war leaders, lunched with the emperor of Japan.

Not only is the list of foreigners who have ever broke bread with the emperor confined to two or three persons in all history, but it was significant that the emperor should meet with the man who was much harsher in war crimes prosecution than the war courts of Nuremburg.

The emperor made no mention of the war trials except to tell Keenan he hoped he would come to Japan again when he had "no disagreeable duties."

The main conversation—it lasted two and a half hours — was about Japanese-American friendship and the emperor's hope for an alliance between the two countries.

* * *

Empress and Margaret Truman.

THE EMPRESS was interested in Margaret Truman and her singing. The emperor wanted to know all about President Truman, his hobbies, his policies, and his miracle election. He was also eager to learn about the U. S. Senate, and wanted Japan's Diet to be like it.

He told how prior to the war, he was worried over the rise of military men to power. Four civilian premiers were murdered in the military, he reminded Keenan.

From 1936 on, the Army demanded that only an active army officer could serve as war minister, which, said the emperor, was the beginning of Pearl Harbor.

The emperor did not speak English, but understood it. He was well-dressed in European clothes, did not bow according to Japanese custom, but crossed the room and shook hands with Keenan.

About 40 butlers served the luncheon guests of seven Japanese and one American. The luncheon was held in the imperial housekeeper's home, for the emperor's palace, contrary to general belief, was badly bombed and has not been repaired.

Note—When Hirohito was about 20, an English-speaking Japanese Quaker, Renzo Sawada, was appointed as his companion. They traveled together through Europe, became good friends, and some of the emperor's democratic ideas may result from this early association.

* * *

Negro Chairman.

BY AN odd twist of fate, the committee which the Republican Congress built up for the purpose of meat-axing the Truman administration, will now be chairmaned by a Negro-Congressman William Dawson of Chicago, Democrat.

Not only is this the first time in history that a Negro has sat as chairman of a congressional committee, but he will sit at the helm of the House expenditures committee, one of the most powerful in Congress.

This committee can investigate almost anything under the sun—from European expenditures under the Marshall Plan to how the President spends his private allowance. There is almost no part of the executive branch of the government that this committee cannot probe.

On it, because of its power, the Republicans placed their most disagreeable and tenacious meat-axers—Michigan's Clare Hoffman, Pennsylvania's Robert Rich, Oklahoma's Ross Rizley, and Clarence Brown of Ohio, Taft's campaign manager.

After Jan. 3, these gentlemen not only are shorn of power, but will be called to order by a quiet-spoken, modest Negro who is well-liked even by his southern colleagues.

However, perhaps because the role of a colored congressmen is not easy on Capitol Hill, the self-effacing Dawson has attended only two meetings of the expenditures committee, and only a score or so of rollcalls on the House floor in the last two years. Most of the time he has spent in his own office or in Chicago.

Result is that Dawson may be tragically unprepared to handle this highly important committee. Second in command, however, is California's Chet Holifield, a shrewd, tough Democrat who knows committee operations from A to Z. Without race prejudices, Holifield will sit at Dawson's right next January as he pounds the gavel at the first historic meeting of the expenditures committee.

Assignment: America

Yucatan's Ancient Ruins

By KENNETH L. DIXON

MERIDA, Yucatan, Mexico—But for the hesitancy of a United States diplomatic chieftain who couldn't quite make up his mind, this Mexican state of Yucatan might well be the forty-ninth state in the union today.

Or it might be the Alaska of Latin America.

That was one of the first things this correspondent learned upon arriving in this Mexican state which is geographically isolated from the rest of Mexico, and yet in the minds of many who are supposed to know is more typically and basically Mexican than any other state in the republic.

Nevertheless, in the early 1800's Yucatan tried to join the United States of America.

Sticking out at it does in peninsula-fashion from the Mexican republic—seeming to point right at Florida, and completing the rim of the Gulf of Mexico—Yucatan seems from a physical sense almost to be stretching toward the United States.

During the aforementioned period, it was seeking such an affiliation on a political basis. For reasons which seemed important to Yucatecos (citizens of Yucatan) at the time, the Mexico City regime was not popular among the people of Merida and adjacent communities, and, then as now, they liked the system by which the United States of America operated.

As a result, their leaders decided they'd like to join up with this comparatively new republic to the north. They made all the proper overtures, and pointed out the strategic importance of locking up both corners of the Gulf of Mexico. It seemed a very smart deal.

However, at the time the United States state department in Washington was concerned with other things, (or, it might have been, as some Yucatecos courteously imply today, that it just didn't like the idea of dealing with south-of-the-border countries.

* * *

Ruins Attract Tourists.

WHATEVER the cause, despite the insistence of the Yucatan officials, the deal fell through, and this relatively isoated state which pokes such a vital finger out into the American seas returned to the Mexican fold.

Even today, the words "relatively isolated" is not a phrase used casually. Modern Yucatan is connected with the rest of the world only by sea and air.

An almost impenetrable jungle separates the Yucatan peninsula from the rest of Mexico. Ships come in at the port of Progresso, and planes land at the modern Merida airport, but there are neither highways nor railroads connecting the state with the rest of the Mexican republic. It sits alone, poking its age-old thumb out into the Caribbean Sea, technichally part of a great country, yet actually a country in itself.

The term "age-old" also is one not lightly spoken, for it is in Yucatan that the ancient Mayan ruins provide the most provocative guesswork about early American inhabitants.

More than a hundred years ago, archeologists were having themselves a field day with the unearthing and restoration of the Mayan ruins not far from Merida. They still are today, for that matter.

But those are academic things. Practically speaking, Yucatan produces a variety of things—from hemp, its principal product, to honey. Meaning the kind that comes from bees. Already, it's potentially a good tourist spot. Always it has been a good hunting and fishing spot.

From a military point of view, we can regret that the long-deceased secretary of state did not see fit to add Yucatan to the United States of America.

In these times, it would be comforting to have it sitting as a defense bastion down there on the southwestern edge of the Gulf of Mexico. But that's all past and done now.

From a thought-provoking point of view, the pyramids and ruined architecture of a once-great Mayan civilization here might well give this atomic generation a moment of trembling about its own future.

Yucatan gives you a postage stamp preview of what could happen everywhere.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

LABOR SECRETARY TOBIN has splendid plans for reducing unemployment. . . . He hopes to start by hiring 3,000 more hands in the labor department.

* * *

And if every government department would do the same, unemployment would disappear. . . . In fact given a high enough budget Tobin could handle it himself.

* * *

But for a new man he runs his department with a practised hand. . . . Some cabinet officers have waited as long as six months before doubling their payrolls.

* * *

Of course this is really an economy . . . The 3,000 will replace Taft and Hartley who have been notified that their services are no longer needed in labor affairs.

* * *

But the eventual goal is a government mediator for every worker. . . . Curbstone service and no waiting.

Timely Editorial

Spurs Oleo Tax Repeal.

Hope that the Eighty-first Congress will repeal the heavy Federal taxation of colored oleomargarine is encouraged by the action of the National Grange, a major farmers' organization, withdrawing its opposition.

Plain labels on pacakges of oleo evidently would meet the Grange's stipulation that "means be taken to prevent deception in its sale in imitation of butter."

This farm support ought to mean a start right now to put through this simple and feasible price relief early next year.—Detroit News.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

To Be In Clover

No farmer or cattleman would ask the origin of this phrase, for they know that clover is good for cattle. And not because of its "beauty in the field," as our correspondent suggests, but for its nutritive elements!

As a metaphor for luxurious living, the expression is over 200 years old in English literature and older yet in circulation by word of mouth. It was toward the end of the reign of Queen Anne, at the beginning of the elegant, opulent 18th century in England, that the metaphor first found its way into the "Apollo," one of the sophisticated publications of the day.

The simple phrase is listed as a "proverb" in Ray's collection, and it persists in literature.

Farmer's Diary

Final Inspection Trip

By CALVIN A. BYERS

I SAW a lantern light and a pair of short legs moving out toward a farmer's barn. It was near 11 o'clock, on a dark foggy night, and I wondered if some animal was ill, or something was wrong, so, on impulse, I stopped my car and walked around the end of the barn to the gate between silo and strawstack.

Then I saw that the lantern was carried, not by the farmer whom I knew, but by a nine-year-old boy. "Hello," I said. He was so surprised by a stranger's voice that he nearly dropped the lantern.

"Aren't you out late?" I asked. "Do you need any help? Is anything wrong?"

"That's what I came out here to see," he explained. "So far, everything's okay. One night last week I found the big gate partly open. We have a bull that's found out how to poke one horn through a hole and lift up a latch. If I hadn't come, all our cattle would have been out on the wheat. Most likely some might have foundered."

"But why does your Dad send a young boy like you? Aren't you ever afraid in the dark?"

"My Dad thinks it is good for me to have responsibility," he said gravely. "I'm not much afraid—any more. Right at first, when I started, it was moonlight. Once I met a skunk on the path with five young ones following her. Another time I saw a fox. He was on a hen hunt, most likely. He ran away and barked in a high-pitched squeak voice."

I stood there while he moved along the barn, trying every door and gate to make sure it was solidly closed. "My father left a box-stall open, himself, last week," he told me. "Another time Bud was in a hurry 'cause he had a date and he left the tractor lights turned on. Might've ruined the battery."

"Your father has several thousand dollars invested in this barn and its contents," I said. "He ca. e from Pennsylvania, didn't he?"

"Blair county."

"Every Dutch farmer makes a habit of going to the barn before bedtime; it's that final inspection that saves trouble and keeps things running smoothly. You're pretty young, but I see that you do a good thorough job."

He thanked me, politely, and when I got into my car and drove on, I saw him run very fast, his lantern bobbing, toward the house. No doubt he would report having met something new along the path.

MRS. JOY HERBERT GIVES PROGRAM AT STUDY CLUB

Music Group Hears Talk on "Theater Music" At Meeting Monday Evening.

"THEATER MUSIC" was the topic of the program given by Mrs. Joy Herbert at the meeting of the Music Study club last evening at the First Baptist church.

Mrs. Herbert traced the development of music back to the time of William Billings in 1776 up to the time of the Negro spirituals. William Billings was the first real composer in America after the landing of the Pilgrims.

From the spirituals and work songs, the members were taken to the era of the minstrels and variety shows, which brought women on the stage. Three types of rhythm, old rag time, blues period and the jazz era, were illustrated for the members.

The operettas by Victor Herbert were then reviewed by the speaker. Familiar composers who followed Herbert's style were listed by Mrs. Herbert. These composers come into the class of "Student Prince" and "Rose Marie."

"When operettas disappeared from the stage, the gaudy, big shows like the scandals and vanities came into being, was said by Mrs. Herbert.

The top performances which are attracting new workers to the theaters are "Oklahoma" and "Carousel" by Rogers and Hammerstein.

The talk was finished with musical items, what music is leading to and what the people expect in music of the future.

"People are looking forward to a new form, something where music runs parallel to the action on the stage. The music fits into the drama or poetry or any other action going on. We are looking forward to our own American opera, which America has never been successful in writing. Our field is the musical comedy. We are going back to the old operettas, which seem to be coming back into favor again," was said by Mrs. Herbert.

The talk was illustrated by guests giving examples by singing or playing pieces during Mrs. Herbert's program.

Jack Schmitt sang the Negro spirituals. Mrs. Robert Donnan gave the Stephen Foster numbers and minstrel music. The Gershwin melodies, to illustrate the jazz period, were played on the piano by Mrs. Charles Bundt. The treble choir, under the direction of Mrs. William Hazeltine, sang two melodies from Victor Herbert's time.

Songs from the "Student Prince" in George Ireland's arrangement were given by Mr. Ireland and his string quartet. Mrs. Bundt again played songs of Norway. These songs are by Gregg.

The finale was music taken from "Carousel" with the string quartet and treble choir providing a background for Mrs. Donnan, who sang the solos.

Miss Myrtle Booth conducted the business meeting. Mrs. George Searle and Miss Hester Robinson were appointed by Miss Booth to work on the nominating committee with three other members chosen during the session. Mrs. J. H. O'Hail gave a report on the meeting held in Loudonville recently.

Mrs. A. M. Colby was the hostess for the meeting.

January 3rd, Mrs. Searle will be hostess at her home, 81 Sturges avenue at 7:45 p. m.

Friends Honor Miss Holycross

The first in a series of pre-nuptial showers for Miss Barbara Holycross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Holycross, of Ashland, was held at the home of Mrs. Fred Dinger.

The 25 guests present spent the evening playing cards and games. Prizes won by the guests were presented to the honoree. Luncheon was served later from a table centered with Christmas greens and lights.

Miss Holycross is engaged to Richard Dinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dinger, R. D. 4. The wedding will be an event of the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Topper, 711 Heidman avenue, Ashland, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday at a dinner party given for them at the Sky club by their children. Twenty-eight guests were seated at a long table centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Yellow roses were placed on the table. A reception was held at the Miller Memorial building in Ashland from 2 to 5 p. m. with two hundred guests in attendance. All of the Toppers' children were present. They are Frank, Cleveland of Ashland, Merle of Jeromesville, Mrs. Martha De Montelambert of East Cleveland, Dwight of East St. Louis, Ill., Kermit of Fredericktown, Dr. Robert Topper of Tuscaloosa, Ala., and Mrs. Lois Peck of Fredericktown. Mr. and Mrs. Topper have eleven grandchildren, who were present at the affair. Mr. and Mrs. Topper exchanged wedding vows December 3, 1898, in West Salem Presbyterian church parsonage with the Rev. Alexander Scott officiating. Mr. Topper has been associated with the Ashland Times-Gazette for twenty-six years.

Christmas Luncheon Held By Auxiliary

Mrs. Donald DeWald and Mrs. H. G. Knierim were hostesses at the Christmas luncheon of the Woman's auxiliary to the Richland County Medical society held at the Women's club at 1 o'clock.

The tables were decorated with the snowman theme. Snowmen were placed throughout the room and on the tables. Evergreens intermingled among the plastic, cotton, candle and paper objects.

Mrs. C. R. Damron, president, conducted the short business session, at which time several committee reports were given.

Mrs. J. L. Stevens conducted a discussion on recent articles appearing in leading newspapers on "Socialized Medicine." This topic will come before Congress and the people in the very near future.

"When this comes before Congress, the topic will be the testing point for coming life," is a statement made by Mrs. Stevens.

After the business session, bridge was the diversion of the afternoon with Mrs. Robert Scott winning first prize. Mrs. Alan Adam and Mrs. Joseph Edelstein won second and third prizes.

The next meeting will be January 3 at the Women's club. Mrs. G. H. King and Mrs. C. K. Kuehue will be hostesses for the 1 o'clock luncheon. The topic for the afternoon will be "Medical Study."

CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Ladies auxiliary of the International Typographical Union will hold their annual Christmas party tonight, at the home of Mrs. H. A. Giesige, 245 Clairmont avenue. The affair will be a covered dish dinner at 6 p. m. There will also be a Christmas exchange.

TOMORROW'S MEETING

The Seekers Bible club will meet tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. for a Christmas tea at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Wachs, Millsboro road.

The monthly birthday luncheon will be held Dec. 15 at 1 o'clock at the Temple.

Formal Ceremony Held For Installation of Officers

The annual installation of officers of Ruth chapter No. 17 of the Order of the Eastern Star was held last night at the Masonic temple. Mrs. John Roman, 248 Bartley avenue, was installed as worthy matron.

Other newly installed officers are: Worthy patron, Claude M. Hunter, associate matron, Mrs. Dan Lamneck; associate patron, Walter Burrier; secretary, Mrs. Sara Ford; treasurer, Mrs. Charles Kerr; chaplain, Mrs. Louisa Ruhl; conductress, Mrs. Harry Colbow; associate conductress, Miss Ada Steward; marshall, Mrs. Virgil G. Hartman; organist, Mrs. Corson Brower; Adah, Mrs. Kathryn Harper; Ruth, Mrs. Ann Martin; Esther, Mrs. Harry Brumfield; Martha, Mrs. Dale E. Patterson, and Electa, Mrs. Clyde Garn, sentinel, Stanley Cramer; soloist, Mrs. James Kennedy, and warden, Mrs. Russell Brollier.

An impressive Star Point Addenda, entitled "Crown of Eternal Life," and portrayed by the installing marshalls, the star points and the worthy matron, with the solo, "Will There Be Any Stars In My Crown" followed the installation. This was followed by a service given by the Rainbow girls.

The East was centered by a large golden triangle, in the center of which was a glittering crown, lighted by the colors representing the five star points. In front of this triangle was a large vase of calla lilies, and on either side two large baskets of white carnations, mums and gladiola surrounded by palms. Two large seven branch candelabra with white and gold candles stood in front of this arrangement.

Mrs. Forest Domer, retiring worthy matron, and Virgil Hartman, retiring worthy patron, presided for the ceremony. They were assisted by introductory marshall, Mrs. Edith Burneson; installing officer, Mrs. Miriam Hoffman; installing marshalls, Mrs. Austa McAninch and Mrs. Charles Anglin; installing chaplain, Mrs. Hartman; installing conductress, Mrs. Floyd Adams; installing warden, Miss Pearl Wierman; installing sentinel, Dan Lamneck, and installing soloist, Mrs. Thomas J. Stevenson.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Stevenson, of Turtle Creek, Pa., sang "The Lord Has Given Me a Song." Following the service Mrs. Roman and Mrs. Stevenson sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "In the Garden."

Swedish Yule Tree

An example of modern Swedish table decoration is this Christmas tree whittled from a single piece of wood, as pictured in the new book, The Decorative Arts of Sweden, by Iona Plath (Charles Scribner's Sons, $10). Miss Plath's comprehensive work covers both the traditional and modern fields of Swedish arts and crafts and is lavishly illustrated.

Miss Plath, well-known designer in the textile field, made three extended trips to Sweden to collect material for the book. Her research was done under the guidance of Swedish leaders in the field. Of Swedish descent, the author studied art in Chicago and New York, and at one time conducted an art school in Texas.

Sorority Plans Yuletide Party

Delta Theta Tau met last night at the Y.M.C.A. clubrooms Monday evening a regular business meeting with 16 members present.

Mrs. S. B. Leonard was elected delegate to the province convention which will be held here in January. A report was given by Mrs. Richard Risser, member of the welfare committee, on the Thanksgiving basket which was packed for a needy family. A Christmas basket will also be packed.

The next meeting will be a Christmas party and initiation, Dec. 14 at 6:30 p. m. at the clubrooms. Mrs. M. M. Brooks will serve as chairman assisted by Mrs. Leonard, and Misses Dorothy Smith and Helen Bunn.

Metallic Upholstery Has New Look

THE glint of metal brings a fresh look and a fine richness to the new furniture upholstery scheme of things. A recent showing of furniture and fashions found visitors just as interested, indeed, perhaps more so, in the furniture than in the beautiful fashions.

Upholstered chairs and settees from various manufacturers, in designs that ranged from period reproductions to contemporary pieces, showed an interesting use of metal-glinted fabrics. An armless chair had as upholstery a handsome green and white textured fabric with a fine stripe formed by gold thread. An open armchair in green and biege showed off a bold gold stripe, and very handsome too!

SAGE GREEN

Another piece was one in a most interesting fabric in sage green with a distinct ridge formed by a loop pile weave. Gold thread appears in the flat spaces between the ridges, making for a novel effect.

One of the most attractive exhibits was a pair of little slipper chairs of a very new design. These were fully upholstered armchairs with the line and proportions of a modern easy chair, yet they were small and dainty. The chairs were covered in a hand woven tweed in gray, green and blue with gold thread overtones. Another piece was upholstered in a fabric in which narrow gold stripes alternated with stripes of coral chenille.

MADE BY THE BLIND

A woven pattern suggesting a plaid in deep pink, green and gold aroused interest as it was one of a collection hand woven by blind workers.

In keeping with the furniture there were some handsome fabrics used for other decorating purposes. A fine white casement cloth delicately highlighted with gold thread, suggested all sorts of uses. A handsome rug composed of copper metal threads blending into a rich cocoa brown fiber would look at home anywhere. Just about the most attractive and original screen seen in a long time, is a floor screen made of half-round wood dowels aleternating with reed-like sticks, and woven together with rich chenille yarns and silver thread.

Ironing is simplified with a new electric iron whose uniquely designed handle unit simply and effectively informs the operator of the exact condition of the iron's heat relative to the material being ironed. A manual pointer operating in a slot at the base of the Bakelite phenolic handle is first set for a particular type of fabric by means of a temperature control knob positioned in the handle. An unusual feature is an indicator that rotates until the correct temperature is reached when a yellow color appears. Red indicates that iron is too hot while green denotes that iron is too cool. These indicating elements are built into a compact, two-piece Bakelite phenolic molded plastic handle, consisting of brown for the top section and black for the base. It is attractive, strong, cool to the touch, and forms a comfortable grasp for the hand.

A special Christmas music treat for children, Hansel and Gretel, is recorded on three Vinylite plastic records, six sides. The world's most popular children's opera is completely reproduced in English with an all-star cast and the Chicago Philharmonic orchestra. Exceptional fidelity in both the musical and talking parts and freedom from extraneous surface noise is made possible through the use of plastic.

* * *

A new cleaning tissue quickly removes finger prints, dirt and lint from phonograph recordings. Use of this tissue eliminates the "ticking" noise caused by the tone-arm passing over particles of lint and dirt on the recording. The tissues can also be used for a wide variety of other uses, such as wiping laboratory slides and in cleaning and polishing industrial equipment that requires a non-abrasive material.

For pie that's "easy as pie," make a pudding from one of the prepared mixes on the market and pour into baked flaky pastry. Chocolate pudding pie is good with sliced bananas. Butterscotch looks well with toasted coconut on top. Plain vanilla pudding pie is delicious topped with fresh sliced peaches.

Operation NOEL

By ALICE DENHOFF

HERE'S a batch of holiday suggestions that starts off with the idea of turning holiday cookies into holly wreaths. As the freshly baked cookies come from the oven, brush them first with egg white, then press bits of red and green gum drops into the egg white.

For a healthful first course for the holiday feast, freeze cranberry juice in traps of automatic refrigerator, then, before serving, beat it with a fork and serve smack in the center of big juicy grapefruit halves. And for something different for the breakfast grapefruit, center it with crushed peppermint stick candy.

GOOD TIDBITS

For wonderful tidbits, stuff pitted dates with bits of canned or glazed pineapple: roll leftover pastry very thin. Wrap each date in pastry, place on a shallow pan with the folded side down. Bake in hot oven (450 F.) until golden brown. Use dates, too, for such holiday items as penquins, nice as place-card holidays, or favors. Wrap some in tin foil, or sugar them, for tree hanging. Take a pitted date and open it wide. Cut a portion from a marshmallow and insert it so that it is plainly visible. Use two small round gumdrops for feet, and a raisin for head, attaching to body with toothpicks. That's all, but very, very amusing!

Draw "faces" on gingerbread cookies, by dipping a toothpick into uncooked frosting and drawing on the requisite "eyes, nose and mouth." Uncooked frosting is easily made by mixing confectioners' sugar with butter and enough cream to moisten.

COOKED RICE

Snowy cooked rice forms the basis for a red, white and green supper salad that combines gracefully with the holiday decorations and is as delicious as it looks. Combine 2 c. cooked rice with 1 c. cooked or canned peas, 4 tbsp. chopped pimiento, 4 tbsp. pickle relish, 2 tbsp. grated cheese, tsp. salt and 3 tbsp. celery. Serve on crisp lettuce with French dressing or mayonnaise as an accompaniment to turkey sandwiches.

A cool frozen punch flavored with orange pekoe tea is sure to be a big attraction at a children's party or a dance for the younger set. Pour a quart of boiling water over ½ c. of dry tea, and let leaves infuse, stirring a little until desired strength is attained (3 to 5 min.). Add ⅔ c. sugar, ⅓ c. light corn syrup and ¼ c. lemon juice and grated rind of ½ lemon. If desired, add 6 drops clove extract. Strain. Freeze in mechanical refrigerator or in equal parts of ice and salt. Be sure that mixture is smooth and free from grains.

In 1940, more than a quarter of the population of the United States were people born outside the country or born of alien parents.

WHY NOT TRY YULETIDE SMORGASBORD?

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
(AP Food Editor)

Many good cooks, I've noticed, seem to have an awful time trying to decide what's to go on the menu along with the main course and dessert for a big holiday dinner. They find it easy enough to choose the meat—whether it's turkey, chicken, duck or ham—and the dessert, usually pie, pudding, or ice cream. But when it comes to the first course, the vegetables, and the salad, they're in a quandary. Here are some suggestions.

This year, in our family, we've been combining the main course before a big dinner with the salad. That gives us a lot of latitude. We borrow the idea of serving Matjes herring from a Scandinavian smorgasbord—but lots of other kinds of fish will do; tuna, sardines, anchovies. Stuffed eggs with a wonderful home made mayonnaise and maybe liver pate we take from the French; tissue-thin slices of ham or spicy salami from the Italians. And of course lots of greens go along—romaine and watercress are especially appropriate, if you can get them. Olives, sticks of fennel and carrot, radishes, tomato wedges, strips of green pepper are all good to choose.

I recently acquired one of the convenient and beautiful glass bottles, marked to hold just the right proportion of oil and vinegar, so now we fill it and pass it with this combination first-course salad. If you keep your oil and vinegar in separate table bottles just pass those, of course.

Another way with a first-course-and salad is to couple fruit and vegetables and serve with a good French dressing. If you can get persimmons you'll find they are delicious with crisp celery and lettuce. If you've always teamed avocado with orange or grapefruit try it sometimes with diced red apple—leaving the apple skins on. In each of these suggestions, you'll notice, bland soft texture is used with something crisp and crunchy. And all benefit!

When it comes to vegetables we departed from tradition this year and served braised celery in place of the usual creamed onions. And was it good! It was my sister Rowena's inspiration and she cut each celery head in about six lengthwise pieces, carefully cutting through and preserving a piece of the heart along with each cluster of stalks. Then she simmered the celery in rich homemade beef broth, and finally doused it in a dressing of olive oil, herb vinegar, salt and finely crushed garlic. Even the custom-bound male members of our family loved it!

When it comes to a menu for the inevitable supper of cold leftover ham or turkey we like nothing better than plain fluffy mashed potatoes, green peas maybe, and a molded salad. Plenty good enough for company, this menu, especially if you make the salad pictured. Here's the recipe.

JELLIED CHRISTMAS TREE SALAD

Ingredients: 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin, 1 cup cold water, 1½ cups hot water, 1 can jellied cranberry sauce, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup finely chopped cabbage, ½ cup diced celery.

Method: Soften gelatin in the 1 cup cold water. Add hot water, stir until gelatin is dissolved. Crush cranberry sauce, lemon juice and salt; beat with a rotary egg beater until smooth. SChill until mixture is the consistency of unbeater until smooth. Chill until mixture into 9x9-inch or 8x8-inch pan. Chill until almost firm. To remainder, fold in cabbage and celery; cover first layer of clear gelatin. To serve, unmold on platter. Cut paper pattern of Christmas tree; place on gelatin; cut around pattern with knife. Remove gelatin that has been cut away from tree design. Then cut this gelatin into pieces and pile into lettuce cups to serve as salads around tree. Soften one-half of a three-ounce package of cream cheese with one teaspoon milk put through pastry tube in five rows of scallops on tree to represent garlands. Serve with mayonnaise dressing. Makes 10 servings.

Legislature Sets Record for Brevity

Hospital Allocation Approved

Group Approves One Measure

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Governor Thomas J. Herbert's swan song to the legislature turned out to be an unfinished melody today as the assembly quit after appropriating $1,000—half of the two-point program for which the third special session was called.

The special session, which gave the governor only half of what he asked and then without a vote to spare, lasted eight working hours. In virtually deserted chambers the single appropriation bill was signed shortly before 11 p. m. last night and the legislature adjourned sine-die.

Approved by the shortest session in Ohio history was an additional $1,000,000 grant to allow the state health department to accept bids totaling $3,000,000 on a 300-bed tuberculosis hospital to be erected adjacent to the Ohio State university medical center in Columbus.

"Lame ducks," meeting reluctantly at the insistence of the governor, refused to grant $907,000 for an administration building at Apple Creek state school for the mentally ill near Wooster.

The Apple Creek proposal, the lower house decided, was not an emergency measure and could wait for action at the next regular session of the legislature which starts Jan. 3.

Left behind after the "lame duck" Republicans returned home were Democratic Senate and House members-elect of the 98th general assembly, the new legislature which meets in a month. The Democrats will hold majorities in both houses for the first time in 12 years.

The members-elect of both houses scheduled caucus meetings today to choose their leaders. The senators will meet at 10 a. m. and the representatives at 4 p. m.

Sen. Roscoe R. Walcutt, R., Columbus, was named Senate majority leader for the new 98th general assembly last night at a caucus of Republican senators-elect.

Demonstrate Grading

A demonstration of lamb grading will be open to the public at the regularly-scheduled lamb pool Thursday in Greenwich, County Agent C. N. McGrew announced today.

The demonstration will be one of the events on the open-house program. Representatives of Ohio State university and Armour and company will discuss producing, buying, and selling pool lambs, and a lamb carcass demonstration will be given.

The Greenwich lamb pools are held every two weeks, and are attended by farmers from Richland and Huron counties.

At the last pool Nov. 26, 427 lambs were graded and sold on grade at the market. They weighed an average of 89 pounds a head and brought an average of $25.27 a hundredweight.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills. —Adv.

2 Elected To Cabinet

Dick Van Voorhis of Mansfield will serve as vice-president of the cabinet of the Southeast Region of the Northwest Ohio Synod of the Evangelical and Reformed church for the coming year. Frank McClain of Upper Sandusky is the new treasurer.

The two were elected and installed at the regional fall meeting held at St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church recently. Rev. John C. Melchert, pastor of St. John's conducted the installation service.

Donald Shifley of Galion will continue as president of the cabinet and Dorothy Smith of Bucyrus as secretary.

Professor to Live In, Make Notes on Ultra-Modern Home

CINCINNATI,—(INS)— A new type of residence to be constructed by the University of Cincinnati, was described today as completely revolutionary.

Officials said the residence will combine the advantages of low cost and reflective radiant conditioning. Dr. Clarence A. Mills, professor of experimental medicine in the university's College of Medicine, made the announcement.

The house's principal feature will be the system of maintaining year-round indoor comfort through reflective radiant conditioning which is not to be confused with radiant heating currently obtained by water pipes buried in floor or ceiling.

The University of Cincinnati home will eliminate such conventional necessities for interior comfort as furnace, air-conditioning unit, and insulation —hence its low cost.

Dr. and Mrs. Mills will live in the residence to make observations and keep operational records.

The central part of the scheme is to heat and cool through radiant channels almost exclusively, with little or no concern for air temperatures or humidity

Wall and ceiling surfaces will be of embossed aluminum foil, one of the best heat-ray reflectors known. In place of a heating plant will be a few electrical resistance coils in each room for the generation of heat rays.

Cooling coils, resistance wires for heat, and flourescent color lighting will all be placed in a cove near the ceiling, giving heat and light and removing radiant heat in hot weather only by indirection.

This is your Gasoline Pump, too...

You can't drive up to this pipeline pump and say "Fill 'er up with X-70." And the man in charge probably never washed a windshield except his own.

But for the big and growing job of getting the gasoline and oil you need, this pump . . . and thousands of others you never see . . . are more important than the one you know so well.

For back of your gas pump are pumps on the truck tank wagons . . . pumps in a gasoline pipeline . . . a thousand pumps in the refinery . . . pumps on the crude oil pipeline or crude oil river barge . . . and finally—back of everything—the pump that lifts the crude oil out of the ground. Every drop of Sohio X-70 that gives you pleasure or helps in your business passed through most of these pumps on its long road to market!

Yes, the oil business is vast, and more complicated than most people realize. And that is why it is taking a little time and so many dollars to gear this giant to the even bigger oil job you want done today.

Sohio is a medium-sized company, selling mainly in a single state. But in the last five years, it alone has invested $140 million* in new oil wells, pipelines, refinery equipment, including $33 million for finding new underground crude reserves. It takes money . . . big money to see that you get what you want . . . out of the pumps!

*This is quite a lot more money than Sohio operations provide, but out of new borrowings, out of new money from stockholders invested in the business, we make up the difference . . . and do the job.

The STANDARD OIL Co. (OHIO)

SOHIO

The better we live, the more oil we need . . . and to make sure we get it here in Ohio, Sohio is putting new money to work in record amounts.

Legislature Sets Record for Brevity

Hospital Allocation Approved

Group Approves One Measure

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Governor Thomas J. Herbert's swan song to the legislature turned out to be an unfinished melody today as the assembly quit after appropriating $1,000—half of the two-point program for which the third special session was called

The special session, which gave the governor only half of what he asked and then without a vote to spare, lasted eight working hours. In virtually deserted chambers the single appropriation bill was signed shortly before 11 p. m. last night and the legislature adjourned sine-die.

Approved by the shortest session in Ohio history was an additional $1,000 000 grant to allow the state health department to accept bids totaling $3 000,000 on a 300-bed tuberculosis hospital to be erected adjacent to the Ohio State university medical center in Columbus

"Lame ducks," meeting reluctantly at the insistence of the governor, refused to grant $907-000 for an administration building at Apple Creek state school for the mentally ill near Wooster

The Apple Creek proposal, the lower house decided, was not an emergency measure and could wait for action at the next regular session of the legislature which starts Jan. 3

Left behind after the 'lame duck" Republicans returned home were Democratic Senate and House members-elect of the 98th general assembly, the new legislature which meets in a month The Democrats will hold majorities in both houses for the first time in 12 years

The members-elect of both houses scheduled caucus meetings today to choose their leaders The senators will meet at 10 a m and the representatives at 4 p m

Sen. Roscoe R Walcutt, R, Columbus, was named Senate majority leader for the new 98th general assembly last night at a caucus of Republican senators-elect

The demonstration will be one of the events on the open-house program. Representatives of Ohio State university and Armour and company will discuss producing, buying, and selling pool lambs, and a lamb carcass demonstration will be given

The Greenwich lamb pools are held every two weeks and are attended by farmers from Richland and Huron counties

At the last pool Nov 26, 427 lambs were graded and sold on grade at the market They weighed an average of 89 pounds a head and brought an average of $25 27 a hundredweight

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains leg pains, loss of pep and energy getting up nights swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder

George Spelvin Gets Very Free With His Verse In Yule Greeting

By GEORGE SPELVIN, AMERICAN

Eftsoons now, as they used to say, in the dear old ancient times
We will celebrate Merry Christmas with carols and happy chimes.
Of all the festive holidays, from jolly April Fool
To Valentine's and Labor day, well give me good old Yule.
When relatives come laden from places far and near
And Santa's cheery accents bring you the best of cheer.
Without fear or favor I will positively say
We all forget old grudges on good old Christmas day.
From Greenland's icy mountains to San Diego, Cal.
Why friend and foe greet heartily, just like a dear old pal.
Relations call you up for whom perchance you have no use
But Christmas time you love them all, cousins, aunts, nephews.
It does no good at Christmas time to indulge in harsh repining
Because that is the day of days you find the silver lining.
What doth it matter if mayhap your uncle is inclined
To not repay his borrowing, if that is on your mind
It comes out in the wash, you see, when all is said and done,
And Christmas is exclusively for pleasure, joy and fun.
A little bird has told me that perhaps you feel dejected
Because a certain party didn't chance to get elected,
Or someone, and I quote, has set your pulses all aflame,
Unquote, and with her witchery is playing Cupid's game.
Or you may be a great tycoon with troubles so mysterious
But never mind at Christmas time you mustn't take life serious.
I often say when people fret like they was just insane,
Well just relax and quaff a toast for you give me a pain.
You aren't the only one you see with cares both small and great
And just suppose no goodies you should find upon your plate.
'Twas nineteen hundred years ago plus almost forty-nine
The pretty star of Bethlehem did beacon forth to shine
The wise men they did little reck that in the U.S.A.
With toys and costly finery we would keep Christmas day.
How pretty is the music in the holy night so still
In mansion and in humble cot, and every bar and grill.
Bing Crosby's voice so beautiful like angels in the sky
Is singing Holy Night so sweet you almost have to cry.
And people get up poems for their Christmas cards so witty
And mail them to their customers in far off Kansas City
In Washington our President, so handsome, brave and true,
Is wishing Christmas greetings to every one of you
And so is Edgar Hoover and Attorney General Clark
So merry Christmas every one so free from care and cark.
In Europe and Australia and the various foreign places
The festive Christmas spirit gleams upon assorted faces.
So Merry Merry Christmas and a yule of glee and fun,
My heart doth sing a greeting gay to each and every one.

Walter Winchell

Scene Stealing Can Be Legitimate But It Can Also Be Catty Trick

SCENE STEALING can be legitimate. Maude Adams was just a sweet leading lady to matinee idol John Drew (the distaff strain of the Barrymores) in "The Masked Ball." But when the sweet leading lady finished her big drunk scene, the audience stood up and cheered. . . . Helen Hayes was a little-publicized child actress until she had William Gillette for a stage daddy in Barrie's "Dear Brutus." The whimsical, romantic part gave her the opportunity she needed to capture the public's heart. . . . Veterans Janet Beecher and Alan Pollock found themselves bypassed by critic for their prosaic romance in "Bill of Divorcement." And newscomer Katharine Cornell was touted to the skies for her playing of the brooding, hysterical Sydney.

★

Newcomers creep up on the stars. And sometimes oldtimers get their chance and steal a march on the bright young things. Arthur Hopkins had a fine cast in "Torch Song" more than a decade ago. Without even bothering to find out that his only background had been medicine shows, the producer had hired a moon-faced old hand for a small bit. He was Guy Kibbee, and he was such a hit that Hollywood carried him off before the play was over. And Kibbee has never acted on Broadway since!

Lawrence Tibbett had his day of glory, coming from a long succession of minor operatic roles to steal "Falstaff" right out from under the wig of the mighty Scotti, who had bucked the greatest sing-stealer of them all, Caruso. . . . And who can forget the wonder and excitement of starry-eyed Mary Martin, for the first time in her life on Broadway in "Leave It to Me," singing "My Heart Belongs to Daddy."?

And here's a comic opera vignette lifted from, of all things, the funeral procession of King George V. A certain royal roue was obliged to march but was unsteady from wassail. His masseur was detailed to march in his wake and rescue the royal presence if it seemed in danger of collapsing. High spot of the parade was the handsome brawny Swede, strutting among the crowned heads in a dazzling borrowed Hussar's uniform.

Sure, scene stealing is a catty trick. It was a cat who sashayed out from the wings at the Met and twined herself around the tenor's leg. He was oozing the love duet from "Faust." . . . Another spectacle that should have attracted the kitties was the flight of pigeons at the Democratic Convention. The "doves of peace" were let fly at the President's appearance. The crazy birds stopped the show and made the President look less like a prophet of peace than a magician.

★

But my favorite example of show stealing happened during King Edward VII's burial march. Not that anybody had it in his head to detract from the final respects paid to the good king. But the focus of the scene with its black-draped horses, dress-uniformed guards and high personages was the little smooth-haired terrier who walked behind his master's coffin.

Accidents In City Up 17 Per Cent

Number of Arrests Down In November

The number of traffic accidents reported to police in November jumped 17.5 per cent over the previous month, the police department's monthly report showed today.

There were 141 accidents, 26 involving personal injuries, as compared with 120 accidents with 16 involving personal injuries in October.

The number of persons arrested in November dropped from the October figure of 205 to 177. Traffic violation arrests dropped from 61 to 53.

FINES DOWN

Total receipts from traffic violation, parking tickets and other offenses totaled $4,778 as compared with $5,621 the previous month.

A breakdown of the arrest statistics showed 134 persons were arrested for intoxication, 13 for disorderly conduct, five for assault and battery, two for carrying concealed weapons and one for forgery. The rest were arrested for miscellaneous misdemeanors.

The traffic patrol issued 912 parking tickets and arrested 15 persons for speeding, five for driving while under the influence of alchol, five for failing to stop after an accident, 11 for unsafe operation and the remainder for other offenses.

Stump Removal Plan Given OK

Plan of the Mohican Sailing club to cut away stumps which endanger boats in Charles Mill reservoir will be carried to completion next August as a result of approval given recently by the Muskingum Conservancy district. Water level of the pool will be lowered sufficiently to permit accomplishment of the work.

Final approval, which was contingent on acceptance by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers of the proposal to lower the water level, came after a conference held last month at Charles Mills dam. Represented at the conference were the Ohio Division of Conservation, Ashland and Richland county conservation organizations and the Muskingum Conservancy district.

Those present included H. E. Russell, J. H. Whitney and H. J. Aten of Ashland county, James Buprkhart, Henry Huston, C. P. Siegenthaler and Kenneth E. Wassem of Richland county, E. L. Wickliff, Dr. E. D. Martin, John R. Van Atta and Dr. Floyd B. Champman of the Ohio Division of Conservation, and J. S. Gena, Frank Crume and Bryce C. Browning of the Muskingum Conservancy district.

Wassem, who operates the boating concession at the lake, reported that other improvements are contemplated when the water level is lowered. These include possible harbor improvement by the Richland Fish and Game association near their club house, and construction of a new dock and harbor for the boating concession.

The time for the work was set in the late summer because of the opinion held by Ohio conservation representatives that minimum damage to aquatic life would result at that time.

City's Employers Study Job Analysis

An employers' institute, sponsored by the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation and the Mansfield employment office, opened this morning in the assembly room of the Chamber of Commerce.

The institute will be held from 9 a. m. until noon daily from Tuesday through Friday. It will resume next Tuesday and the half-day sessions will continue through Friday of that week.

Between 25 and 30 representatives of industries in the Mansfield area are expected to attend the sessions on personnel problems in industry during the two-week period.

John G. Turner, of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation in Columbus, will lead the conference. Turner has had 12 years experience in personnel work.

John Tischner, director of local office operations from the BUC in Columbus, is attending today's session.

This year's institute will be the first conducted in Mansfield since the war. Similar programs have been given in 50 Ohio communities.

STUDY JOB ANALYSIS

The theme of the institute is "The Multi-Purpose Use of Job Analysis in Industry." The purpose of the meetings is to improve personnel relations in plants.

Representatives of industry attending the meetings are expected to present personnel problems for study. Such topics as safety engineering, classification of workers, uprating, and labor turnover will be discussed.

C. W. Handley, manager of the Mansfield Employment office, is in charge of arrangements for the institute.

Born in Mansfield Sept. 2, 1893, Mr. Freese spent his entire life here. He was a retired employe of the Empire Steel corporation. Mr. Freese was a member of the Free Methodist church.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Tillie M. Cramer Freese; one brother, Leland K. Freese and a nephew, John C. Freese, all of Mansfield.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. at the Free Methodist church by the pastor, Rev. A. J. Staats. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery. Friends may call at the Finefrock funeral home until noon Wednesday.

Boy Caught After Chase

A 15-year-old Central avenue youth was held by police today in connection with a theft of a car from Third avenue shortly after noon yesterday which ended in a near accident at Central avenue and U. S. Route 42.

Scheduled for hearing before Juvenile Judge Stuart H. Cramer at 2:30 p. m. today were the two 16-year-old youths, apprehended by police early Sunday after they attempted to break into the Hart Diary store, 509 Springmill street.

Police said the boy held for investigation in the car theft was halted by drawn guns when he attempted to flee on foot from the intersection. The car is owned by W. E. Bladwin jr., Mansfield, R. D. 2, who reported the theft to police at 1:20 p. m. The car was taken from its parking space in front of 285 Third avenue.

No hearing for the Central avenue youth has been scheduled by juvenile authorities. The boy has a record dating back to 1943 when he began stealing bicycles and he now is on probation from Lancaster where he has been incarcerated twice, court attaches said.

Arrest of the youth was made by Patrolmen John C. Gilbert and John E. Steel who pursued the boy in the speeding car through the Fourth avenue neighborhood and down Route 42. Patrolmen said the youth nearly upset the car at Central avenue and Route 42 and that he stopped the car and started out on foot, fleeing along the Rocky Fork creek.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY—

Charles K. King, chairman of the board of the Ohio Brass company, is receiving congratulations from his associates on his birthday today.

C. K. KING

King, a native of Maine, came to Mansfield in 1893 and has been with the brass company since then. He was responsible for the company entering the electrical business which is now one of its chief lines. He became president of the Ohio Brass in 1928 and chairman of the board in 1946.

King is a member of the Masonic orders here. His hobby is his estate, "Kingwood," on Park avenue west.

Walter W. Willis, public accountant, has a double reason for celebrating today. He is observing both his 53rd birthday and his 27th wedding anniversary.

Willis came to Mansfield from Canton about 30 years ago and has been in the accounting business since 1924. His wife is one of his partners in business.

He is secretary of the Rotary club and during the summer likes to spend time at his small cabin on 40 acres near Lucas. Willis lives at 641 Highland avenue.

Clay is a comparatively newcomer to Mansfield, coming here from Cleveland in 1946. He is a member of the Elks lodge, Exchange club, Chamber of Commerce, Retail Merchants association, St. Peter's Catholic church, and is a Fourth degree Knights of Columbus. Clay likes bowling and golf.

He is married and has two sons and a daughter. Both sons attend Western Reserve university, Cleveland, and his daughter is a student at St. Peter's high school. Clay lives at 551 Sunset boulevard.

Thinks Pay Is Too Low

Cites Earnings In Other Cities

Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch said today he didn't like the way common pleas judges' salaries are determined and he was going to try to do something about it. He said he would make recommendations to the state for readjustment.

Judge Kalbfleisch, who said he handles about 1,000 cases a year, gets $521 less than Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer. He said he doesn't object to the probate judge's salary being as high as it is, but he thinks he should earn more, on the basis of salaries in other counties.

The Ohio Legislature yesterday passed a resolution seeking to equalize the pay of probate and common pleas judges. In many counties the probate judge earns considerably less than the common pleas judge, creating an "injustice," spokesmen for the equalization plan said.

But it's different in Richland country. Here Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer gets $521 more a year than Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch. The probate judge is paid $5,975 and the common pleas judge $5,454.

SOME UPPED

However, beginning Feb. 9, 1949, the salaries of the two judges will be equalized at $6,454. The common pleas judge will receive a $1,000 yearly increase granted during the last regular session of the state assembly.

At the same legislative session a maximum of a $1,500 increase was granted to probate judges to bring their salaries up to those of common pleas judges. The increase was authorized only for the judges who are also juvenile judges, as in Richland county.

Judge Kalbfleisch pointed out in the difference in judges' salaries throughout the state. Six Common Pleas judges in Canton each get $12,000 a year and handle no more than 500 cases a year, he said.

In Richland county, on the other hand, the lone Common Pleas judge handles upward of 1,000 cases a year for half the city judges' salaries.

State law, he declared, requires a county to have a population of 95,000 before a second judge can be added. Richland county has a population approaching 80,000.

HEAR FEWER CASES

Less populous counties have one Common Pleas judge with a salary $400 less than the category in which Richland county falls. But the inequality lies in the fact that those judges, in many counties hear only 200 cases a year, Judge Kalbfleisch said.

Mounting living costs have hit judges in the middle pay scales, he asserted. The increase soon to go into effect will be the first since 1934, and since then the salaries have even been lowered because they were made taxable, he added.

The judge pointed out that the $1,000 yearly raise will not solve the problem of inequalities in salaries of judges. He said he had made recommendations to the state legislature calling for a different basis on which to determine the salaries.

Immediate Cancer Clinic Appointments Available

With only nine persons booked for next week's cancer clinic, Dr. W. E. Wygant, clinic director, said today immediate appointments can be made for examinations.

And Dr. Harry Wain, city-county health commissioner, commenting on the fact that 1,330 persons had attended the clinic since it was established in October, 1947, said:

"We have only scratched the surface of the population of the county. A large segment of the people have not availed themselves of the clinic."

He emphasized the importance of early diagnosis in curing cancer, pointing out that far more cures are effected when diagnosis is made in the early stages of the disease.

He said male attendance at the clinic was lagging and stressed that men as well as women are susceptible to the disease.

Appointments at the clinic, which is open every Tuesday night, may be had by calling 2291-6 any weekday.

The board of directors of the Richland County Cancer society met last night and discussed the need for carrying on an intensive educational program directed at the public to stress the need for early diagnosis and treatment of cancer.

Attending the meeting were Richard Wolford, president; Paul M. Elliot, Dean Dickerson, Dr. Wygant, Dr. Wain, Dr. L.D. Bonar, Harry Dailey, Charles Spreng, Harry Bowman, Mrs. Charles Wolf.
